ROBERT ARNDT DIES OF AUTO CRASH INJURIES

Robert Elwood Arndt, 21, of 159 North Stratton street, died Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock as the result of injuries received in an auto-truck collision Tuesday evening a short distance north of here on the Biglerville road.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, said today an inquest will be held at a time to be announced later.

Arndt was a passenger in an auto operated by Paul A. Walker, 19, of 144 Chambersburg street, which crashed into the rear of a stalled truck operated by Harry A. Zentz, Thurmont R. D., Md. The truck had become stalled on the foggy highway when the wheels and axle slipped allowing the body to settle on the tires. There was considerable fog at the time of the accident.

Was W.M.R.R. Telegrapher
Mr. Arndt was a son of Mrs. Verna (Wisler) Arndt and the late Albert S. Arndt. He graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1946 and attended Gettysburg college. At the time of his death he was employed as a telegraph operator for the Western Maryland railroad at Baltimore, commuting daily from here. He was a member of St. James Lutheran church.

Surviving are his mother; one brother, Richard, at home, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. James Wisler, Gettysburg.

Funeral services Saturday at 2 p.m. from the Bender funeral home, conducted by the Rev. Dr. Howard Schley Fox, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Reformed church, Interment in Evergreen cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

Six Kiddies In Family Have Scarlet Fever

Six of the 11 children in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Noel, who live at Mt. Misery in Oxford township, are ill with scarlet fever and the home has been placed under a 21-day quarantine by William I. Shields, state sanitary officer for Adams county.

The patients are: Harry A., Jr., aged six; Sara, eight; Gladys, nine and William D., 10, all pupils at Clearview school in Oxford township; and Agnes, 11 and Cathryn M., 14, both pupils at Red Hill school.

Mr. Shields, fearing another widespread outbreak of scarlet fever among school children throughout the county as occurred two years ago, today urged bus drivers and owners to air and disinfect school buses weekly. "School buses should be treated like school rooms," Mr. Shields said. "When there is danger of contagious diseases being spread among the occupants of the buses, the buses—where many pupils spend a considerable amount of time each school day in close contact with other pupils—should be kept clean, aired and disinfected regularly."

The state health officer blamed the spread of scarlet fever to many parts of the county two years ago in large part to contaminated school buses which exchange pupils and form a network throughout the county.

SETS MONDAY DEADLINE ON GARBAGE RULES

Gettysburg residents who do not have lids for their garbage cans or do not place their garbage in cans, allow it to accumulate or otherwise violate the borough and health department regulations regarding the disposal of garbage and trash, will have until next Monday to correct these conditions.

Health Officer Eugene S. Sickles announced today that another inspection would be made, starting Monday, and violators will face prosecution.

The Sickles inspection will be a double-barreled job. Part of it will be made in his capacity as health officer, while as fire marshal Sickles will make an inspection of fire hazards.

Should Clean Chimneys
With cold weather coming on and the firing up of furnaces and other heating units, Sickles warned residents to have their chimneys cleaned, to avoid an epidemic of chimney fires which usually plague the fire company at this season of the year.

He also warned that prosecutions may face those who have accumulations of rubbish and other burnable materials which cause fire hazards.

Sickles said he would be glad to answer any questions regarding fire or health regulations. He will be at the fire engine house, telephone 71, daily except Sunday, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

PART OF RADIO IN DEFENSE IS TOLD BY PAGE

The part played by radio in national defense was outlined Wednesday evening by Earl C. Pace, manager of Radio Station WGET in a talk given before the Adams County Bankers association at a meeting of the organization held at the Shelter House.

An intricate system of radio receivers and transmitters receiving from the small hand-talkie carried by an individual soldier to huge radio installations with a range of hundreds of miles is used to maintain constant communication among the various units of the armed forces, he noted.

"In addition, radio permits the commander-in-chief of an army to hold round table discussions with his top generals, or anyone, at any time, although the members taking part in the planning discussion may be separated by thousands of miles and continents apart at the time the discussion is going on.

Importance Of Radar
"Radar, a form of radio, has very important uses. It can be used to place a defense screen around a city or a country to warn in advance of the approach of enemy planes; it can be used on ships to warn of the approach of other ships or planes, and in a form used on airplanes for bombing, has made the blackout a thing of the past.

"No matter how well a city is blacked out; even though clouds prevent any visual observation whatsoever, a bombardier today can sit inside a plane and on the screen in front of him, during the blackest night, see just what is on the ground below him. As an example of how highly dependent the navy is on radio in its various forms, approximately one-third of the cost of a modern aircraft carrier goes for electronic equipment by which the ship may be in communication with its planes, the shore, and other ships, and by which it may detect the approach of other ships, planes and submarines and identify them as friend or foe.

Used To Test Planes
"With the use of electronic equipment submarines can track and sink ships without ever seeing them; and airplanes can be test-piloted without anyone being at the controls. Engineers seated on the ground can put a test plane through its paces and learn more from watching the instruments before them than they could learn if they were in the air in the plane itself.

"Radio has another important part in national defense. There is a national defense network embracing all commercial radio stations and the amateurs, which can be thrown into action at any time to carry messages to everyone in the country. (Continued on Page 2)

Here And There

News Collected At Random

Charles G. Hoffman, of Emmitsburg, writes:
"Enclosed herewith is a clipping from the Leesburg, Fla., Commercial of August 31, 1950, entitled 'Hoover's Mistakes' under the heading of 'Letters to the Editor.' While it is anonymous I thought that it might be of interest to your paper to reprint, if only to show how a man may neglect all the golden opportunities of life and still land on Easy street in his old age, and show no prospect of being a candidate for relief.
The clipping follows:
"An inspired publicity release from one of Truman's propagandists says that 'Hoover was a complete failure.' So he was. He failed in many things. He failed to draw his salary of $78,000 a year while he was our President—turning it all back into the public treasury. He failed to have his sons organize insurance firms to write insurance on government enterprises. He built a Rapidian resort for fishing and recreation at his own expense and gave it to his country. None of his sons went racing through the divorce courts.
"He never bundled up a lot of government documents to sell as a book to the faithful at a high profit to himself; and he never sold himself to a labor organization for a $500,000 campaign fund.
"He gathered a marvelous collection of war and peace documents, and built a museum to house that collection, but failed to ask Congress to pay the bill. He paid it himself.
He did not preach and promote class hatred, and he did not try to pack the Supreme Court. He did not plow up every third row of cotton, and he did not promise the American people one thing while at the very moment permitting (Continued on Page 7)

George E. Allen, "Friend Of Presidents," Is Countian

George E. Allen, friend of presidents, author, politician and a man of many business interests, has become a resident of Adams county.

The author of "Presidents Who Have Known Me," recently published by Simon and Schuster, has purchased the former Col. George V. Riley farm four miles south of here along the Emmitsburg road for $15,000 and is making extensive improvements to the property.

He plans to use the 80-acre farm for his stable of thoroughbred horses as well as his country home.

A review of Allen's recent book, appearing in The Philadelphia Bulletin Sunday morning was given a prominent position, and termed a "guide to U. S. politics for a capital insider."

The review, by Harrison Smith noted, "George Allen's 'Presidents Who Have Known Me' is a lively, honest and amusing book on the American political scene. . . . Allen is an extrovert, a plump and smiling raconteur who has never forgotten an anecdote or a friend, good or bad. It is safe to say that he could not have been produced in any other country in the world. He has two stories to tell; one is about George E. Allen, boy and man, and the other is about the effect that George E. Allen has produced on the famous people he has run into or run over in the course of a well spent life.

Told To "Set Right Example"

Chief Harpster acted as master of ceremonies following the banquet. The address of welcome was delivered by Burgess William G. Weaver.

Lt. Jack Dudek, Cleveland, Ohio, was the principal speaker. In an address in which he said the old idea of holding a "cop" up to ridicule was changing, he told members of the lodge to "sell themselves" to the public by "setting a right example."

"You are not 'cops,' you are professional men," he said. "Your job is to sell yourselves to the public by setting a right example." To the wives present, he said, "You are also expected to set a good example, and this applies even to your children. 1ST ALLENBERRY COMEDY - DRAMA PLEASES CROWD

The auditorium at the high school was filled nearly to capacity Wednesday night for the first of the three Allenberry plays sponsored by the Exchange club. "The Hasty Heart," and the large and appreciative audience alternately bubbled with merriment or figuratively wept at appropriate moments as the plot of the John Patrick comedy-drama unfolded.

Hazen Gifford, in the role of Lachie, a snub-nosed Scot soldier moving in, bag and bannocks, to a convalescent ward in the rear of the Assam-Burma front gave a very excellent performance and did well throughout the play with the difficult Scottish accent. His support was admirable. It would be difficult to name any particular star, since each one of the cast was exceptionally fine in the respective roles.

Next Play December 7

David Brubaker played the part of "Digger," an Australian soldier; Henry Waldon, "Kiki," a New Zealander; Howard Crouch, an African tribesman; Gerald Teddy, a Cockney soldier; Jack McCarrell, the "Yank," and Ann Dearing, the only feminine character in the play. "Sister Margaret," a nurse, Theodore Field took the part of the colonel in charge of the hospital and Lee Williams the part of an orderly.

The play was under the direction of Richard North Gage, combining pathos with comedy, it dealt with Lachie's determination to live out his last days by himself, and revealed the efforts of his fellow hospital patients to change his outlook. Miss Dearing as the nurse came through with a charming portrayal, particularly in her tender love scenes with the embittered Lachie.

The Allenberry players will appear here again on December 7 in the Pennsylvania Dutch dialect comedy, "Papa Is All," and on April 28 "The Male Animal," also under Exchange club sponsorship.

Funds realized from these plays will go toward paying the cost of the Christmas lights in Gettysburg this year, a new Exchange club community project.

United Nations Forces Seize Most Of Red Capital Today

Seoul, Korea, Oct. 19 (AP)—The United Nations forces seized the failing heart of Red Korea today. Twin Allied spearheads occupied most of the Communist capital, Pyongyang.

Reports from four Associated Press war correspondents indicated that complete conquest of the North Korean Red nerve center was only a matter of hours.

Premier Kim Il Sung and his Soviet satellite regime apparently fled to the north, possibly as far as Red China's Manchuria or Soviet Siberia.

An end to the bitter war that started June 25 was in sight. But top Allied commanders have warned that guerrilla resistance may lie ahead. On both the east and west coasts the Allies were pressing closer to Manchuria.

City Nearly Deserted

In Pyongyang, nothing stood in the way of the grimy, grinning, battlers of the U. S. First Cavalry and South Korean Divisions except a few die-hard Reds.

The mechanized cavalry troopers were first into the city—as they were first in historic entries into Manila and Tokyo in World War II. They smashed inside the eastern industrial section from the southern outskirts at 11 a.m. Thursday (9 p.m. EST, Wednesday).

The South Korean division thrust in from the east afterwards.

AP Correspondent Don Whitehead reported frightened Reds surrendered by the thousands. Some ran into the open from houses and fields, clad only in long underwear, hands above their heads.

The ancient bomb-blasted capital seemed virtually deserted by its more than 700,000 inhabitants. The two major escape roads leading northward were clogged with civilian refugees and Red soldiers.

One Bridge Intact

"The Reds could not even muster a stand or fight to the death for their own capital," Whitehead reported. "Either the Reds had lost their will to fight for the city or else the Americans moved so fast they had no chance to group the defense force."

AP Correspondents William J. Vaughn, Tom Lambert and Jack MacBeth reported the Reds blew two bridges spanning the broad Taedong river which courses through the capital's center.

But the Communists neglected to blow a third. The cavalry troopers and South Koreans linked up on the east side of the

Robert Elwood Arndt, 21, of 159 North Stratton street, died Wednesday afternoon at 3:40 o'clock as the result of injuries received in an auto-truck collision Tuesday evening a short distance north of here on the Biglerville road.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, said today an inquest will be held at a time to be announced later.

Arndt was a passenger in an auto operated by Paul A. Walker, 19, of 144 Chambersburg street, which crashed into the rear of a stalled truck operated by Harry A. Zentz, Thurmont R. D. Md. The truck had become stalled on the foggy highway when the wheels and axle slipped allowing the body to settle on the tires. There was considerable fog at the time of the accident.

Mr. Arndt was a son of Mrs. Verna (Wieser) Arndt and the late Albert S. Arndt. He graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1946 and attended Gettysburg college. At the time of his death he was employed as a telegraph operator for the Western Maryland railroad at Baltimore, commuting daily from here. He was a member of St. James Lutheran church.

Six Kiddies In Family Have Scarlet Fever

Six of the 11 children in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Noel, who live at Mt. Misery in Oxford township, are ill with scarlet fever and the home has been placed under a 21-day quarantine by William I. Shields, state sanitary officer for Adams county.

The patients are: Harry A., Jr., aged six; Sara, eight; Gladys, nine and William D., 10, all pupils at Clearview school in Oxford township; and Agnes, 11 and Cathryn M., 14, both pupils at Red Hill school.

Mr. Shields, fearing another widespread outbreak of scarlet fever among school children throughout the county as occurred two years ago, today urged bus drivers and owners to air and disinfect school buses weekly. "School buses should be treated like school rooms," Mr. Shields said. "When there is danger of contagious diseases being spread among the occupants of the buses, the buses—where many pupils spend a considerable amount of time each school day in close contact with other pupils—should be kept clean, aired and disinfected regularly."

The state health officer blamed the spread of scarlet fever to many parts of the county two years ago in large part to contaminated school buses which exchange pupils and form a network throughout the county.

From 9 to 10 o'clock a radio program will be held over Station WGCT to give details of the drive and the organizations for which the campaign is conducted.

SETS MONDAY DEADLINE ON GARBAGE RULES

Gettysburg residents who do not have lids for their garbage cans or do not place their garbage in cans, allow it to accumulate or otherwise violate the borough and health department regulations regarding the disposal of garbage and trash, will have until next Monday to correct these conditions.

Health Officer Eugene S. Sickles announced today that another inspection would be made, starting Monday, and violators will face prosecution.

The Sickles inspection will be a double-barreled job. Part of it will be made in his capacity as health officer, while as fire marshal Sickles will make an inspection of fire hazards.

Should Clean Chimneys

With cold weather coming on and the firing up of furnaces and other heating units, Sickles warned residents to have their chimneys cleaned, to avoid an epidemic of chimney fires which usually plague the fire company at this season of the year.

He also warned that prosecutions may face those who have accumulations of rubbish and other burnable materials which cause fire hazards.

Sickles said he would be glad to answer any questions regarding fire or health regulations. He will be at the fire engine house, telephone 71, daily except Sunday, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

RESERVE UNIT PLANS SESSIONS

Details of the instruction to be given during the next two months were outlined Wednesday evening by Col. E. J. Nowicki, Jr., commanding officer, at the regular meeting of the 2108th Replacement Depot, a local Army Reserve unit, held at the American Legion home on Baltimore street.

Captain Wayne Wentz and Major George Hikes gave instruction on the functioning and assembling of the 50 caliber machine gun at Wednesday's meeting.

November 1 Captain Robert Scott will speak on the principles of camouflage and Capt. Leonard Shearer will speak on "Army Correspondence."

November 15 Col. Wilbur Plank will have charge of instruction on advanced map reading and Captain Joseph Heiney will be in charge of instruction on drill formations. The November 15 session, according to present plans, will be held at Gettysburg college.

Instruction at the December 6 session will include "Defense Against Chemical Attack" with Maj. Maxwell Barasch in charge and advanced map reading with Colonel Plank in charge.

December 20 Colonel Nowicki will be in charge of instruction on field service regulations and operations, arms and services, exercises of command and security.

Eagles' Auxiliary Meets Before Dance

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Fraternal Order of Eagles are asked to meet this evening at 7:45 o'clock promptly in order that the meeting may be completed in time for the dance at 9 o'clock.

The dance will be held for the Eagles and their ladies to raise funds for the Damon Runyon cancer fund. All funds raised by the dance will be sent to Walter Winchell for inclusion in the fund. Eagles lodges throughout the nation are holding similar affairs to raise money for the Runyon fund.

LUNCH INSTITUTE

Supervising principals, principals, cafeteria managers and lunchroom cooks from schools of Adams, Cumberland, Franklin and Perry counties will participate in a one-day school lunch institute Friday at South Middleton Township school, Boiling Springs. At least 35 representatives from the four counties are expected to register for the institute.

PART OF RADIO IN DEFENSE IS TOLD BY PAGE

The part played by radio in national defense was outlined Wednesday evening by Earl C. Pace, manager of Radio Station WGCT in a talk given before the Adams County Bankers association at a meeting of the organization held at the Shelter House.

An intricate system of radio receivers and transmitters varying from the small hand-talkie carried by an individual soldier to huge radio installations with a range of hundreds of miles is used to maintain constant communication among the various units of the armed forces, he noted.

"In addition, radio permits the commander-in-chief of an army to hold round table discussions with his top generals, or anyone, at any time, although the members taking part in the planning discussion may be separated by thousands of miles and continents apart at the time the discussion is going on.

Importance Of Radar

"Radar, a form of radio, has very important uses. It can be used to place a defense screen around a city or a country to warn in advance of the approach of enemy planes; it can be used on ships to warn of the approach of other ships or planes, and in a form used on airplanes for bombing, has made the blackout a thing of the past.

"No matter how well a city is blacked out; even though clouds prevent any visual observation whatsoever, a bombardier today can sit inside a plane and on the screen in front of him, during the blackest night, see just what is on the ground below him. As an example of how highly dependent the navy is on radio in its various forms, approximately one-third of the cost of a modern aircraft carrier goes for electronic equipment by which the ship may be in communication with its planes, the shore, and other ships, and by which it may detect the approach of other ships, planes and submarines and identify them as friend or foe.

Used To Test Planes

"With the use of electronic equipment submarines can track and sink ships without ever seeing them; and airplanes can be test-piloted without anyone being at the controls. Engineers seated on the ground can put a test plane through its paces and learn more from watching the instruments before them than they could learn if they were in the air in the plane itself.

"Radio has another important part in national defense. There is a national defense network embracing all commercial radio stations and the amateurs, which can be thrown into action at any time to carry messages to everyone in the (Continued on Page 2)

Rev. and Mrs. Henry W. Sternat were guests of honor Wednesday evening at a joint social of St. Paul's and Benders Lutheran churches in the Biglerville Community hall. The social was held in celebration of Rev. Sternat's 25th anniversary as pastor of the two churches. The Rev. Mr. Sternat moved to Biglerville on October 12, 1925, and preached his first sermon on October 25 of that year.

The councils of 1925 when Rev. Sternat came were: Benders, C. J. Rousher, trustee; Irvin Guise and Roy Heagy, elders; Maurice Sterner, D. S. Slaybaugh, John Mauss, Sr., and Wilmer Lady, deacons; St. Paul's council, W. K. Enckand, L. A. Guiden, elders; Charles Myers, E. Dale Heiges, O. A. Nary, and Luther Lawver, deacons. The highlight of the evening was the presentation of gifts to Rev. and Mrs. Sternat. The gifts included a basket of flowers from Trinity Lutheran church in Arendtsville, 25 rosebuds from the Volunteer Sunday School class of St. Paul's church, a purse containing $300 from the people of the two congregations and a 1951 DeSoto custom sedan. The Rev. Mr. Sternat expressed his thanks and appreciation for what his congregations had done for him and his wife.

Presentations By Dr. Putman
Officers in charge of the anniversary were: Benders; Dale Guise, chairman and Earl Walter, treasurer; St. Paul's, Earl Gray, chairman; Earl Crum, secretary, and Robert Shafer, treasurer. Solicitations for funds for the gifts were made by members of the parish. The program for the evening was in charge of Earl Cary and Dale Guise.

The program opened with a piano prelude by Miss Barbara Kleinfelter. Greetings were given by Earl Cary, Prof. Charles Yost led the group singing. The devotions were in charge of Rev. Robert Sternat. Following the devotions, greetings were extended by Rev. A. M. Hollinger, father-in-law of Rev. Sternat, of Hanover; Rev. Nevin Frantz, pastor of Trinity Benders Reformed church, Biglerville; and Rev. Lawrence Rohrbach, pastor of Centenary United Brethren, Biglerville Prof. and Mrs. Yost then rendered a vocal duet. Greetings were also extended by Rev. Robert C. Schiebel, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, Arendtsville; Dr. O. D. Coble, pastor of Bethlehem Lutheran church, Bendersville, and by Rev. D. S. Kammerer, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Littlestown. A telegram was read from Rev. Donald Heiges, Chicago, a son of the congregation.

Earl Cary then presented the council of 25 years ago and gave corsages to the five widows of former council members.

Rev. Dwight F. Putman, president of the Central Pennsylvania Synod, made the presentation of the automobile and the purses to Rev. and Mrs. Sternat. Following remarks by Pastor Sternat, Prof. Yost again led group singing, after which refreshments were served. The meeting closed as the group sang one verse of "Abide With Me."

The auditorium was decorated in keeping with the occasion. Approximately 425 persons turned out to honor their pastor.

The decorating committee was Mrs. Ruth Nary, chairman; Mrs. Alma Howe, Miss Jean Thomas and Mrs. Earl Cary. The committee in charge of refreshments follows: Gladys Leinart, chairman; Aida Gettier, Ada Wagner, Jean Rice, Myrtle Enck, Sarah Smith, Ruth Dugan, Margaret Bream, Donna Crub, Anna Osburn, Renee Kleinfelter, Helen Guise, Margaret Guise, Vernice Guise, Myrna Wagner, Merle Wagner and Celia Raffensperger.

"He never bundled up a lot of government documents to sell as a book to the faithful at a huge profit to himself; and he never sold himself to a labor organization for a $500,000 campaign fund.

"He gathered a marvelous collection of war-and peace documents, and built a museum to house that collection, but failed to ask Congress to pay the bill. He paid it himself.

He did not preach and promote class hatred, and he did not try to pack the Supreme Court. He did not plow up every third row of cotton, and he did not promise the American people one thing while at the very moment permitting (Continued on Page 7)

George E. Allen, "Friend Of Presidents," Is Countian

George E. Allen, friend of presidents, author, politician and a man of many business interests, has become a resident of Adams county.

The author of "Presidents Who Have Known Me," recently published by Simon and Schuster, has purchased the former Col. George V. Riley farm four miles south of here along the Emmitsburg road for $15,000 and is making extensive improvements to the property.

He plans to use the 80-acre farm for his stable of thoroughbred horses as well as his country home.

A review of Allen's recent book, appearing in The Philadelphia Bulletin Sunday morning was given a prominent position, and termed a "guide to U. S. politics for a capital insider."

The review, by Harrison Smith noted, "George Allen's 'Presidents Who Have Known Me' is a lively, honest and amusing book on the American political scene. . . . Allen is an extrovert, a plump and smiling raconteur who has never forgotten an anecdote or a friend, good or bad. It is safe to say that he could not have been produced in any other country in the world. He has two stories to tell; one is about George E. Allen, boy and man, and the other is about the effect that George E. Allen has produced on the famous people he has run into or run over in the course of a well spent life.

"Mr. Allen is a professional charmer who underplays his hands when he is writing about himself. He deliberately conceals the native shrewdness which bounced him up the ladder. The theory that he was kept around the White House and General Eisenhower's headquarters in England when D-Day was in the making simply because he was a privileged court jester to statesmen, ambassadors and military leaders will not hold water. He has an engaging way of reporting his failures at length and saying very little about how he managed to bounce up again so rapidly.

"It is obvious that those who have depended on his common sense and his knowledge of human nature in business and politics did not keep him around for just a laugh."

HARPSTER IS ELECTED HEAD OF FOP GROUP

Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster was elected president of the Tri-County Lodge No. 76, Fraternal Order of Police for the ensuing year at the 16th annual conference held Wednesday at the Lee-Meade inn. More than 100 members of the lodge and auxiliary members attended the morning and afternoon business sessions and the banquet and entertainment in the evening.

The election of officers was held during the afternoon. Harpster will succeed Paul Bahn, assistant chief of police at Mechanicsburg as president of the organization. Other officers elected were:

First vice president, Patrolman L. F. Miller, Chambersburg, succeeding Chief Leon H. Gage, Littlestown; second vice president, Chief Michael Wassell, Mercersburg; secretary-treasurer, Sgt. J. Byers Schlichter, Chambersburg, re-elected to his third term; guard, Pvt. Robert Bruce, Carlisle substation of the state police; conductor, Pvt. Charles Moyer, also from the Carlisle substation.

Trustees elected for one year are Sgt. James Kepner, Carlisle; Marvin Shanholitz, retired police officer, Carlisle, and Patrolman Kenneth Morris, Chambersburg. They will succeed Chief H. L. Fritz, Duncannon, Chief M. W. McCormick, McConnellsburg, and Patrolman Charles E. Wise, Carlisle. Schlichter and Bahn were named delegates to the national convention in Cincinnati in August, 1951.

The morning business session opened at 10:30 o'clock, followed by a buffet luncheon at the inn. During the afternoon business session, which opened at 2 o'clock, members of the auxiliary were taken on a tour of the Knouse Foods Cooperative, Inc., at Peach Glen.

Two new members, Chief John W. Feeser, Newville, and Patrolman Charles K. McClure, Camp Hill, were taken into the lodge during the session here.

Told To "Set Right Example"

Chief Harpster acted as master of ceremonies following the banquet. The address of welcome was delivered by Burgess William G. Weaver.

Lt. Jack Dudek, Cleveland, Ohio, was the principal speaker. In an address in which he said the old idea of holding a "cop" up to ridicule was changing, he told members of the lodge to "sell themselves" to the public by "setting a right example."

"You are not 'cops,' you are professional men," he said. "Your job is to sell yourselves to the public by setting a right example." To the wives present, he said, "You are also expected to set a good example, and this applies even to your children. Most people understand too that you are a normal human being, the same as anyone else. You can (Continued on Page 2)

1ST ALLENBERRY COMEDY - DRAMA PLEASES CROWD

The auditorium at the high school was filled nearly to capacity Wednesday night for the first of the three Allenberry plays sponsored by the Exchange club. "The Hasty Heart," and the large and appreciative audience alternately bubbled with merriment or figuratively wept at appropriate moments as the plot of the John Patrick comedy-drama unfolded.

Hazen Gifford, in the role of Lachie, a stubborn Scot soldier moving in, bag and bagpipes, to a convalescent ward in the rear of the Assam-Burma front gave a very excellent performance and did well throughout the play with the difficult Scottish accent. His support was admirable. It would be difficult to name any particular star, since each one of the cast was exceptionally fine in the respective roles.

Next Play December 7

David Brubaker played the part of "Digger," an Australian soldier; Henry Waldon, "Kiki," a New Zealander; Howard Crouch, an African tribesman; Gerald Teddy, a Cockney soldier; Jack McCarrell, the "Yank," and Ann Dearing, the only feminine character in the play, "Sister Margaret," a nurse. Theodore Field took the part of the colonel in charge of the hospital and Lee Williams the part of an orderly.

The play was under the direction of Richard North Gage. Combining pathos with comedy, it dealt with Lachie's determination to live out his last days by himself, and revealed the efforts of his fellow hospital patients to change his outlook. Miss Dearing as the nurse came through with a charming portrayal, particularly in her tender love scenes with the embittered Lachie.

The Allenberry plays will appear here again on December 7 in the Pennsylvania Dutch dialect comedy, "Papa Is All," and on April 26 "The Male Animal," also under Exchange club sponsorship.

Funds realized from these plays will go toward paying the cost of the Christmas lights in Gettysburg this year, a new Exchange club community project.

Bring 3 Youths Here For Hearing

United Nations Forces Seize Most Of Red Capital Today

Seoul, Korea, Oct. 19 (AP)—The United Nations forces seized the falling heart of Red Korea today. Twin Allied spearheads occupied most of the Communist capital, Pyongyang.

Reports from four Associated Press war correspondents indicated that complete conquest of the North Korean Red nerve center was only a matter of hours.

Premier Kim Il Sung and his Soviet satellite regime apparently fled to the north, possibly as far as Red China's Manchuria or Soviet Siberia.

An end to the bitter war that started June 25 was in sight. But top Allied commanders have warned that guerrilla resistance may lie ahead. On both the east and west coasts the Allies were pressing closer to Manchuria.

City Nearly Deserted

In Pyongyang, nothing stood in the way of the grimy, grinning battlers of the U. S. First Cavalry and South Korean Divisions except a few die-hard Reds.

The mechanized cavalry troops were first into the city—as they were first in historic entries into Manila and Tokyo in World War II. They smashed inside the eastern industrial section from the southern outskirts at 11 a.m. Thursday (9 p.m. EST, Wednesday).

The South Korean division thrust in from the east afterwards.

AP Correspondent Don Whitehead reported frightened Reds surrendered by the thousands. Some ran into the open from houses and fields, clad only in long underwear, hands above their heads.

The ancient bomb-blasted capital seemed virtually deserted by its more than 700,000 inhabitants. The two major escape roads leading northward were clogged with civilian refugees and Red soldiers.

One Bridge Intact

"The Reds could not even muster a stand or fight to the death for their own capital," Whitehead reported. "Either the Reds had lost their will to fight for the city or else the Americans moved so fast they had no chance to group the defense force."

AP Correspondents William J. Waugh, Tom Lambert and Jack MacBeth reported the Reds blew two major escape roads leading northward were clogged with civilian refugees and Red soldiers.

But the Communists neglected to blow a third. The cavalry troopers and South Koreans linked up on the east side of the bridge, shook hands and poured across.

On the opposite side, the Communists had strung banners across the streets urging the populace to "defend this city to the last."

TRUMAN GIVES BLUNT WARNING TO ASIA, REDS

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
San Francisco, Oct. 18 (AP)—President Truman set the world stage today for an unprecedented counter-offensive to Soviet peace propaganda. He offered a full "partnership of peace" to all Asia, backed up by United States military might.

The State department's "Voice of America" bombarded every reachable listener with a constant repetition of Truman's warning to the peoples of the Far East that Russia is trying to turn them into "colonial slaves of a new imperialism."

And the President left for the Russian Politburo a bold and blunt reminder that the United States will not stop short of war to resist aggression and preserve "our free way of life."

Partnership For Peace
Mr. Truman flew back to Washington shortly after delivering his major foreign policy speech last night in the War Memorial opera house where the United Nations charter was born five years ago. It was the last leg of a flight during which he talked with General Douglas MacArthur on Wake Island about what, he said, were the "dangers

SEES CHINESE INTERVENTION NOW UNLIKELY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)
The continued drive of U.N. forces into North Korea in pursuit of the Red Korean army of aggression is causing much speculation whether Communist China is likely to intervene to save her ideological soulmate.

That's a natural question for several reasons. China's Manchuria has a common frontier with North Korea, and Peiping doesn't want any foreign power in control there.

Moreover, Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai has broadcast a warning that China won't tolerate any attack on her neighbors—whatever that may mean. And Indian Prime Minister Nehru has declared there is danger of Chinese involvement if U.N. troops drive to the Manchurian border.

China's Problem
The most important industrial area in all China lies in Manchuria. It's true that the Russians removed huge quantities of machinery right after the World War, but there has been considerable rehabilitation. And the bulk of China's heavy industry is in Manchuria, including her arsenals.

Perhaps of greater concern is the fact that the power for plants in a good part of Manchuria is developed in the Yalu river. Now the Yalu forms the western part of the border between North Korea and Manchuria, and this renders the hydroelectric development highly vulnerable to bombing planes based in Korea.

That would be the immediate danger in case China precipitated a major war. However, she has much more to worry about. Despite her millions of troops, she lacks the resources to engage in a major war.

Too Valuable
Well, what's the answer? Is this a correct appraisal and, if so, does the United Nations abandon its fight and order U.N. Commander-in-Chief MacArthur to withdraw from battle?

The answer on all scores would seem to this column to be in the negative. Of course there's always the danger of a major conflict developing when there is much juggling of high explosive as is which still face us."

"What we want is a partnership for peace with all the world," Mr. Truman told a cheering audience. He said "We want peace but it must be a peace founded upon justice. That American policy is as old as our republic and it is stronger today than ever before in our history. And with God's help we intend to keep it that way."

The crowd applauded vigorously as the President declared "We are increasing our armed strength because Soviet policies leave us no other choice."

If the Soviets "really want peace," Mr. Truman continued, they can prove it "by living up to the principles of the United Nations charter," and "by joining the rest of the United Nations in calling upon the North Koreans to lay down their arms at once," and "by lifting the iron curtain and permitting the free exchange of information and ideas," and finally, by joining with the U.N. to establish a system of collective security "which will permit the elimination of the atomic bomb and the drastic reduction and regulation of all other arms and armed forces."

Will Aid Oppressed
Mr. Truman declared that until the Soviet Union does these things "we are determined to build up the common defensive strength of the free world."

What the United States did for Korea, he said in effect, it stands ready to do. In conjunction with the United Nations, for any peaceful country that finds its borders violated and its freedom attacked.

"We hate war," the President declared, "but we love our liberties. We will not see them destroyed."

The "Voice of America" transmitters hammered home the Presidential effort to drive a wedge between Russia and countries of the Far East by assailing Soviet communism for making "the false claims to these peoples that it stands for progress and human advancement."

Actually, the President declared, "it seeks to turn them into the colonial slaves of a new imperialism."

Tire Waste and Front End Wear

Our MANBEE Wheel Alignment and Wheel Balancing Equipment enables us to detect and correct destructive wheel conditions before serious damage is done. We STOP tire waste and front end wear at the START. Give your prolonged tire life and keep your car driving like new. Get acquainted with this essential service for modern cars—the secret to SAFETY and SAVINGS, DRIVING COMFORT and ECONOMY.

THREE out of FIVE cars have destructive wheel conditions, but their owners don't know it.

Tires, shock absorbers and springs take the beating, vibration and grind. Like a sneak thief, destructive wear steals tire mileage and ages the car far beyond its mileage.

Eventually destructive wheel misalignment and unbalance show up in uneven tire wear, loose steering, shimmy, weave and wander—after it's too late.

Discuss Inflation

A discussion of Regulation X, providing for increases in down payments in connection with mortgages guaranteed by the FHA or the GI Bill of Rights program was carried out by the bankers.

Lloyd Kuhn, cashier of the Bendersville National bank, declared: "The government is seeking to use the banks to curb inflation, while it is doing nothing to cut down government expense, or to curb the activities of the big unions. While the two most important causes of inflation, deficit spending by the government and the fourth rounds of general wage increases are permitted, the banks and their clients are penalized, and prevented from carrying on their normal functions with the hope that that will stave off inflation."

President Paul Spangler appointed a nominating committee comprising J. D. Miller, Theron Spangler and C. D. Krout to select candidates for the election to be held at the November meeting. Eight county banks were represented at the meeting.

DYKES HAS BIG REBUILDING JOB WITH ATHLETICS

Philadelphia, Oct. 19 (AP)—Jimmy Dykes is proud of being selected to succeed Connie Mack as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics but he's realistic enough to know that a tremendous rebuilding job has been tossed into his lap.

To say Dykes was starting from scratch would be an understatement. The rotund smoker of big black cigars inherits a ball club that finished last in the American league this year, 47 games behind the first-place New York Yankees.

But Jimmy isn't wearing a harried look yet. After the excitement of his being selected to fill the famous shoes of the retired 87-year-old Mack had died down today, Dykes took this stock of his ball club:

"This team isn't as bad as its record. They finished so far behind because they loafed. And believe me, there won't be any loafing in 1951. The A's will hustle from spring training to the end of the season. That, I promise you."

Dykes said he and the new general manager, Arthur Ehlert, would decide next week what players they want to keep and whom they would like to get rid of.

Best Prospects
"The only help we can expect from the farm teams next year consists of Lou Limmer, first baseman from St. Paul who was voted the outstanding rookie in the American Association; Frank Robinson, a pitcher from Savannah and George Moskovich, Buffalo second baseman," Dykes said.

Asked if bring up Limmer would make first sacker Ferris Fain available as trading material, Dykes said it is an angle to consider.

"Fain is a good first baseman and we would have to get darn good players in any deal involving him. We don't want cash, we want players."

The 54-year-old Dykes, who was only seven years old when the man he has succeeded, helped found and then became the first and only manager of the Athletics ever knew, expressed himself as overwhelmed at being named to take over Connie Mack's job.

Ehlert was promoted to general manager from head of the team's farm system.

Both Dykes and Ehlert were named to their new posts yesterday when Mack announced he was retiring.

While Ehlert and Dykes prepared to start a new era in Philadelphia American league baseball, testimonials came from all over the baseball world to the man who has been a legend in the game. They all added up to the same thing—"We're sorry to see you go, Mr. Mack."

Joe Gordon Will Manage Sacramento

Sacramento, Calif., Oct. 19 (AP)—Joe Gordon, spectacular second baseman with world champion New York Yankee and Cleveland Indian teams has signed as played-manager of the Sacramento Solons—who finished the 1950 season deep in the Pacific Coast league cellar.

The reason, explained the "flash" of the pre-war Yankees: "I like the weather."

Sacramento's temperature frequently hits 100 during the summer. Sometimes it gets hotter.

Army Pilot Falls To Death After Leap

Avondale, Pa., Oct. 19 (AP)—An air force pilot plunged to his death yesterday after parachuting from his jet plane. The plane crashed a few minutes later. The plane struck the ground at Kaolin, about three miles southwest of Avondale.

An hour later, the body of the pilot was found just across the Delaware state line. He was tentatively identified as Major Merle J. Gilbertson, an air force flight instructor attached to the Delaware National Guard.

It was not learned immediately why his parachute failed to function properly or what caused him to leap from the plane.

Fusari Gets TKO Over Tony Pellone

Chicago, Oct. 19 (AP)—The International Boxing club has had some candy Chicago stadium scraps, like last night's Charlie Fusari-Tony Pellone slug-fest. But finding a way to make the public pay to see them is another story.

Warriors Play Greyhounds At Shippensburg Friday

Gettysburg high school's football team invades Shippensburg Friday night to meet the Greyhounds in a South Penn conference game on their new field.

The Warriors will be gunning for their second successive conference victory while Shippensburg will be attempting to halt a four-game losing streak.

Coach Howard Shoemaker announced today that Bill Williams, varsity fullback, will see no scrimmage action Friday but may be called upon to punt. Williams returned to uniform this week after having been out since the Carlisle game because of an injury.

With the exception of Williams, the Warrior squad is in good condition and at full strength. There is expected to be no change in the starting lineup.

The Warriors and Greyhounds have met two common rivals so far this season. Gettysburg lost to Hanover 13-6 and to Carlisle 13-0. The Greyhounds were beaten by Hanover 53-0 and lost to Carlisle 28-6 after putting up a scrappy battle last week.

Five-Man Staff
The Greyhounds have a unique coaching setup this season, a five-man board operating the squad.

Shippensburg defeated Quince in its opening game but has since lost to Hershey, Hanover, Chambersburg and Carlisle. The Warriors hold a 3-2 overall season mark with victories over Westminster, Delone and Waynesboro.

The big game in the South Penn circuit Friday night will be the clash between Hanover and Chambersburg on the latter's field. Both have perfect marks in league play and are rated as strong contenders for the 1950 honors, the Trojans having won the title last year.

In the only other league tilt Friday Waynesboro will be host to Hershey.

Carlisle's unbeaten team plays a non-conference game with Delone at Carlisle Friday night while Mechanicsburg invades New Cumberland for

Littlestown WOMAN'S CLUB TO GIVE BAND NEW UNIFORMS

It was announced that there will be a meeting of the Adams county Federation next Wednesday with the Franklin county Federation at Greencastle. Members interested in attending are requested to contact Mrs. Charles W. Weikert for transportation. The program will start with a dinner at 6 p.m. Tickets are $2. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Stanley Horner, Mrs. William Marshman and Mrs. Charles Rabenstein were appointed a committee to purchase and send a gift to a Woman's club in Westmoreland county, that is having a fund-raising campaign and is using this method to conduct a bazaar.

A change in the by-laws was recommended by the executive board. Mrs. Clayton L. Evans, Mrs. Charles W. Weikert, Mrs. Marvin Breighner, Mrs. Roy Renner, Mrs. Edward Leister and Mrs. Leonard L. Potter were appointed a committee to make changes and present their report at the next meeting.

The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Potter, and opened with the group singing of "America, the Beautiful" with Miss Louise Dutera as pianist, and Mrs. Maurice Rider as director. This was followed by the club "collect." Guests included Mrs. James Fager, Mrs. Louis Clingan and Mrs. Rodney Law, town; Mrs. Beatrice Rider, Gettysburg, and Mrs. Arthur Bowman, Hanover.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, November 15. It will be an educational program with a film, "Sixth Chair." The program committee consists of Mrs. Walter F. Crouse, Mrs. John Riley, Mrs. George Bemiller, Mrs. Edwin Staveland, Mrs. Ralph Staley, Mrs. John LeGore, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. Wilbur A. Bankert, Mrs. Irvin Kinzig, Mrs. George Mayers, Mrs. Leonard L. Potter, and Mrs. Ralph Unger in charge of the kitchen.

Demonstrates Skin Care
Mrs. Joseph R. Riden, chairman of the program committee, introduced Mary Richardson, New Windsor, district manager of Beauty Counsellors, Inc., and her assistant, Mrs. Kathryn Finch, who explained and demonstrated "Skin Care and Make-up." Mrs. J. Ray Reindollar served as a model for this demonstration. Special awards were given to Mrs. Alvin Groff, Mrs. Anna Leach, Mrs. Harry T. Harner, Mrs. Brenda Walker and Mrs. Paul Hanlon. Each person present also received a souvenir gift. Assisting Mrs. Riden on this committee were Mrs. Harry Badders, Mrs. Nevaeh Crouse, Mrs. John N. Sell, Mrs. Millard Basehear, Mrs. Edward Leister, Mrs. Carrie Strine and Mrs. Edna Geiselman.

Members of the club were requested to patronize the exhibits at St. Aloysius hall in connection with "Pennsylvania Week." Whether interested in winning a prize or not, they were urged to take worthwhile articles there for exhibit.

Mrs. Harry T. Harner reported for the cheer committee that she had received acknowledgements from Mrs. Howard Koontz, Westminster, whose mother, Mrs. Emma H. Mehring, a past president of the club, met with a tragic death several weeks ago, and from Mrs. John LeGore, a member of the club who received cheer during her illness.

Dues Payable Now
It was announced that dues are now payable to the treasurer, Mrs. Carrie Wine, tendered her resignation as a member of the club due to her removal from community.

A tentative budget presented by the chairman of the finance committee, Mrs. Charles W. Weikert, was approved as presented. Other members of the committee who assisted with the tentative budget were: Mrs. Edward T. Richardson, Mrs. H. Dean Stover, Miss Malva Dutera, Mrs. Richard A. Little, Mrs. James Dutterer, Mrs. George DeHoff, and Mrs. Luther Ritter. The club also decided to conduct a food sale for raising funds. The date will be announced.

Mrs. Leonard L. Potter, president, explained the recommendations for the duties of the hostess and program committees at the monthly meetings.

Plans were discussed for the annual banquet which will be held Wednesday, November 8, at 6.30 p.m. in the social hall of Redeemer's Reformed church. A roast turkey dinner will be served by the Hostess' class of the church. The price will be $1.50 per person. November 3 was set as the deadline for reservations. Banquet committee include: Cheer; Mrs. Harry T. Harner, Mrs. J. Harvey Pettijohn and Miss Mary Rita Redding; and education: Mrs. Donald Lemmon, Mrs. Esther R. Wolfe.

Effective Showman
He comes to the microphone shortly after the big special train slides to its scheduled stops.

"Hello," he says in an off-pitch squeak. And the crowd roars. A few moments later he tells the audience: "I have a surprise for you."

"You'd like to see Homer?" (his radio pal.)

The crowd comes back with a delighted "yeah."

At which point Stone always seems to need an extra second to gulp a breath of air. Then:

"He ain't here."

The crowd lets go a disappointed "Ho."

The routine hasn't failed yet. Which of course is a tribute to Stone's showmanship.

Contributing Services
Then he goes into the show, introducing the acts, picking a youthful "stooge" for Pert Emile Longueur, Phoenixville's "Miss Pennsylvania," and right on to the finish when he and the stars, Governor James H. Duff, movie actress Alexis Smith and all the others stand on the platform waving goodbye as the train departs.

Stone goes through this approximate routine four times every day the train is on the road, and usually again in the evening, as he did here last night, at the biggest local dinner meeting to date. He always seems fresh, willing to go along with the crowd, anxious to entertain.

He's doing it all as his contribution to Pennsylvania Week. Ezra has been on the train in each of its three annual tours, is willing and even anxious to come back another year.

In his business role as an entertainer this would be a high priced job if someone hired him to do it. Why, then, does Stone go into all this work without a cent of pay?

His Answer
Here's the answer he gave in a most impressive little talk last night before more than 400 at the Pennsylvania Week dinner: "To me the best place to keep this Democracy alive is in the home and the next best is the community. By that I mean a bigger, better town and state. That is the thing Pennsylvania Week seeks to achieve. Along this tour we meet all kinds of people. We shake hands and say hello and laugh together. That is the best lesson I can think of in our way of life."

Stone, to fulfill his radio work, had to leave the train today. He will miss the scheduled stops at Kitzanning, New Kensington, Canonsburg, Washington and Pittsburgh. He promised to come back for the Friday tour to Butler, Punxsutawney, Indiana, Blairsville and Altoona.

Probe Of Phila. Officers Goes On

Philadelphia, Oct. 19 (AP)—Calling of the former top aide of Inspector Craig Ellis by a federal grand jury marked the beginning of a "sweeping investigation of the entire Philadelphia vice squad," a jury spokesman announced.

Detective Lieut. Clarence Ferguson, who was second in command on the vice squad until he was transferred to regular police duty last August, was before the jurors twice yesterday for a total of an hour and five minutes.

Ellis, head of the vice squad for 10 years, shot himself to death Tuesday in a lonely country lane near Media, Pa.

The jury spokesman said Ellis' death was a severe blow to the jury's plans, but that it would not "ring down the curtain" on the investigation. The jury wants to find out in particular about alleged protection payoffs by known gamblers, he said.

DYKES HAS BIG REBUILDING JOB WITH ATHLETICS

Philadelphia, Oct. 19 (AP)—Jimmy Dykes is proud of being selected to succeed Connie Mack as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics but he's realistic enough to know that a tremendous rebuilding job has been tossed into his lap.

To say Dykes was starting from scratch would be an understatement. The rotund smoker of big black cigars inherits a ball club that finished last in the American league this year, 47 games behind the first-place New York Yankees.

But Jimmy isn't wearing a harried look yet. After the excitement of his being selected to fill the famous shoes of the retired 87-year-old Mack had died down today, Dykes took this stock of his ball club:

"This team isn't as bad as its record. They finished so far behind because they loafed. And believe me, there won't be any loafing in 1951. The A's will hustle from spring training to the end of the season. That, I promise you."

Dykes said he and the new general manager, Arthur Ehlert, would decide next week what players they want to keep and whom they would like to get rid of.

Best Prospects
"The only help we can expect from the farm teams next year consists of Lou Limmer, first baseman from St. Paul who was voted the outstanding rookie in the American Association; Frank Robinson, a pitcher from Savannah and George Moskovich, Buffalo second baseman," Dykes said.

Asked if bring up Limmer would make first sacker Ferris Fain available as trading material, Dykes said it is an angle to consider.

"Fain is a good first baseman and we would have to get darn good players in any deal involving him. We don't want cash, we want players."

The 54-year-old Dykes, who was only seven years old when the man he has succeeded, helped found and then became the first and only manager of the Athletics ever knew, expressed himself as overwhelmed at being named to take over Connie Mack's job.

Ehlert was promoted to general manager from head of the team's farm system.

Both Dykes and Ehlert were named to their new posts yesterday when Mack announced he was retiring.

While Ehlert and Dykes prepared to start a new era in Philadelphia American league baseball, testimonials came from all over the baseball world to the man who has been a legend in the game. They all added up to the same thing—"We're sorry to see you go, Mr. Mack."

Joe Gordon Will Manage Sacramento

Sacramento, Calif., Oct. 19 (AP)—Joe Gordon, spectacular second baseman with world champion New York Yankee and Cleveland Indian teams has signed as played-manager of the Sacramento Solons—who finished the 1950 season deep in the Pacific Coast league cellar.

The reason, explained the "flash" of the pre-war Yankees: "I like the weather."

Sacramento's temperature frequently hits 100 during the summer. Sometimes it gets hotter.

Jo-Jo White, Solon general manager, announced the signing yesterday. The salary was not announced, but was reported "in excess" of $20,000.

Army Pilot Falls To Death After Leap

Avondale, Pa., Oct. 19 (AP)—An air force pilot plunged to his death yesterday after parachuting from his jet plane. The plane crashed a few minutes later. The plane struck the ground at Kaolin, about three miles southwest of Avondale.

An hour later, the body of the pilot was found just across the Delaware state line. He was tentatively identified as Major Merle J. Gilbertson, an air force flight instructor attached to the Delaware National Guard.

It was not learned immediately why his parachute failed to function properly or what caused him to leap from the plane.

Fusari Gets TKO Over Tony Pellone

Chicago, Oct. 19 (AP)—The International Boxing club has had some candy Chicago stadium scraps, like last night's Charlie Fusari-Tony Pellone slug-fest. But finding a way to make the public pay to see them is another story.

Fusari scored a 10th round technical knockout of incredibly game Pellone and television scored some sort of a knockout over the I. B. C. Only 3,924 fans preferred watching the gladiators in the flesh to seeing them on the video screen. The I. B. C. had expected at least 10,000. The gross was $19,205 and the net only $14,774.

Just two weeks ago about 8,900 attended the also-televized Rocky Graziano-Gene Tunney brawl. The I. B. C. hoped for 12,000.

Fusari weighed 148, Pellone 146½.

Warriors Play Greyhounds At Shippensburg Friday

Gettysburg high school's football team invades Shippensburg Friday night to meet the Greyhounds in a South Penn conference game on their new field.

The Warriors will be gunning for their second successive conference victory while Shippensburg will be attempting to halt a four-game losing streak.

Coach Howard Shoemaker announced today that Bill Williams, varsity fullback, will see no scrimmage action Friday but may be called upon to punt. Williams returned to uniform this week after having been out since the Carlisle game because of an injury.

With the exception of Williams, the Warrior squad is in good condition and at full strength. There is expected to be no change in the starting lineup.

The Warriors and Greyhounds have met two common rivals so far this season. Gettysburg lost to Hanover 13-6 and to Carlisle 13-0. The Greyhounds were beaten by Hanover 53-0 and lost to Carlisle 28-6 after putting up a scrappy battle last week.

Five-Man Staff
The Greyhounds have a unique coaching setup this season, a five-man board operating the squad.

Shippensburg defeated Quincy in its opening game but has since lost to Hershey, Hanover, Chambersburg and Carlisle. The Warriors hold a 3-2 overall season mark with victories over Westminster, Delone and Waynesboro.

The big game in the South Penn circuit Friday night will be the clash between Hanover and Chambersburg on the latter's field. Both have perfect marks in league play and are rated as strong contenders for the 1950 honors, the Trojans having won the title last year.

In the only other league tilt Friday Waynesboro will be host to Hershey.

Carlisle's unbeaten team plays a non-conference game with Delone at Carlisle Friday night while Mechanicsburg invades New Cumberland for

EZRA STONE IS SPARKPLUG OF PA. TRAIN SHOW

Oil City, Pa., Oct. 19 (AP)—A chubby little guy whose voice—but not his face—is known to millions has been one of the sparkplugs of the Pennsylvania week train. Back at Newtown in Bucks county, his neighbors call him Ezra Stone.

On the radio—he'll be back there tonight with his weekly broadcast—he's squeaky-voiced "Henry," scion of the Aldrich family.

But since Monday he's been the master of ceremonies, the man who makes the show tick on the Pennsylvania Week train. Over the days and a dozen stops he has evolved and guided a program that rates everything from spatters of applause to roaring laughter and squeals of delight.

Effective Showman
He comes to the microphone shortly after the big special train slides to its scheduled stops.

"Hello," he says in an off-pitch squeak. And the crowd roars. A few moments later he tells the audience: "I have a surprise for you. I would you like to see Homer?" (his radio pal.)

The crowd comes back with a delighted "yeah."

At which point Stone always seems to need an extra second to gulp a breath of air. Then:

"He ain't here."

The crowd lets go a disappointed "Ho."

The routine hasn't failed yet. Which of course is a tribute to Stone's showmanship.

Contributing Services

Then he goes into the show, introducing the acts, picking a youthful "stooge" for Pert Emilie Longacre, Phoenixville's "Miss Pennsylvania" and right on to the finish when he and the stars, Governor James H. Duff, movie actress Alexis Smith and all the others stand on the platform waving goodbye as the train departs.

Stone goes through this approximate routine four times every day the train is on the road, and usually again in the evening, as he did here last night, at the biggest local dinner meeting to date. He always seems fresh, willing to go along with the crowd, anxious to entertain.

He's doing it all as his contribution to Pennsylvania Week. Ezra has been on the train in each of its three annual tours, is willing and even anxious to come back another year.

In his business role as an entertainer this would be a high priced job if someone hired him to do it. Why, then, does Stone go into all this work without a cent of pay?

His Answer

Here's the answer he gave in a most impressive little talk last night before more than 400 at the Pennsylvania Week dinner: "To me the best place to keep this Democracy alive is in the home and the next best is the community. By that I mean a bigger, better town and state. That is the thing Pennsylvania Week seeks to achieve. Along this tour we meet all kinds of people. We shake hands and say hello and laugh together. That is the best lesson I can think of in our way of life."

Stone, to fulfill his radio work, had to leave the train today. He will miss the scheduled stops at Kittanning, New Kensington, Canonsburg, Washington and Pittsburgh. He promised to come back for the Friday tour to Butler, Punxsutawney, Indiana, Blairsville and Altoona.

Probe Of Phila. Officers Goes On

Philadelphia, Oct. 19 (AP)—Calling of the former top aide of Inspector Craig Ellis by a federal grand jury marked the beginning of a "sweeping investigation of the entire Philadelphia vice squad," a jury spokesman announced.

Detective Lieut. Clarence Ferguson, who was second in command on the vice squad until he was transferred to regular police duty last August, was before the jurors twice yesterday for a total of an hour and five minutes.

Ellis, head of the vice squad for 10 years, shot himself to death Tuesday in a lonely country lane near Media, Pa.

The jury spokesman said Ellis' death was a severe blow to the jury's plans, but that it would not "ring down the curtain" on the investigation. The jury wants to find out in particular about alleged protection payoffs by known gamblers, he said.

FUTURE STATUS OF RICKEY HAS RUMORS FLYING

New York, Oct. 19 (AP)—Rumors are a dime a dozen these days regarding Branch Rickey's future plans in baseball.

Reports persist that Rickey, general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, will either buy the St. Louis Browns lock, stock and barrel or purchase a substantial block of stock in the American league club and become its general manager.

Other observers feel that Rickey will take the general manager's portfolio at Pittsburgh at the behest of his friend, John Galbreath, million dollar real estate operator and owner of the Pirates.

Few believe that Rickey will stay as general manager of the Dodgers. Rickey's contract as Dodger major domo expires at the end of the month. The Dodgers' stockholders have a meeting scheduled next Monday when Rickey's fate will be decided.

Rickey, with Galbreath acting as a go-between, sold his one-quarter interest in the Dodgers to Real Estate Operator William Zeckendorf on September 23 for over a million dollars.

The deal, however, has not been completed as two of Rickey's partners have an option to buy the stock at the same terms. Rickey and his two partners, Walt O'Malley and the late John L. Smith agreed some time ago to that arrangement. Since the deal Smith died and his 25 per cent is now held by Mrs. Smith, O'Malley also owns 25 per cent and the remaining 25 per cent is owned by Mrs. James Mulvey. Mrs. Mulvey has refused to sell to anybody.

Rickey, reached at Billings, Mont., yesterday where he stopped on a vacation trip, threw little light on the situation.

"I wouldn't know what to do with myself if I retired altogether from baseball," Rickey said. "But I am not yet ready to announce where I may go or what I will do when the deal for my Brooklyn stock is closed."

One of the reasons advanced on why Rickey may take over the Browns is Rickey's statement that his wife wants to live in St. Louis.

Rickey, who gained fame and fortune while in the front office of the St. Louis Cardinals, has maintained a home in the Mound City during his eight years with Brooklyn.

Harrisburg, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Democratic State committee said today that Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Livengood, Jr., drafted a protest petition for Bedford county farmers opposing the state's Shawnee park project.

The committee has termed the project "Gov. Duff's Mudhole" and quoted farmers as calling it "unnecessary" flood control.

D. E. Winebrenner III, New Oxford, president of the Pennsylvania Cannery association, today announced that final details have been completed for the 36th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Cannery association will be held in Harrisburg at the Penn-Harris hotel November 20 and 21.

Theme of the meeting, he said, will be the present semi-war economy and the outlook for 1951 as far as selective service, manpower, food procurement and marketing problems are concerned.

Key speakers have been engaged to bring first-hand information on current conditions to enable packers to plan their next season's food pack for home consumption and for the armed services. Winebrenner said.

The network has never been used, but occasional tests have been made so that the switchover could be made the moment there is need.

Face invited the group to visit Radio Station WGET, located on the Harrisburg road about a half mile north of here, at any time. "The station welcomes visits from the public," he said. "We are ready at any time to show visitors around and tell them and show them how our station operates."

Discuss Inflation
A discussion of Regulation X, providing for increases in down payments in connection with mortgages guaranteed by the FHA or the GI Bill of Rights program was carried out by the bankers.

Lloyd Kuhn, cashier of the Bendersville National bank, declared: "The government is seeking to use the banks to curb inflation, while it is doing nothing to cut down government expense, or to curb the activities of the big unions. While the two most important causes of inflation, deficit spending by the government and the fourth rounds of general wage increases are permitted, the banks and their clients are penalized, and prevented from carrying on their normal functions with the hope that that will stave off inflation."

President Paul Spangler appointed a nominating committee comprising J. D. Miller, Theron Spangler and C. D. Krout to select candidates for the election to be held at the November meeting. Eight county banks were represented at the meeting.

Draft Board Asked For 26 Men Nov. 1

Draft board headquarters here said today it didn't believe it had enough men listed to fill the quota of 26. Men sent to Harrisburg earlier cannot be called for the November quota, it was pointed out.

Names of those to be inducted will be released by the draft board after the notices have been sent to them. They will board chartered buses at 7 a.m. for the trip to Harrisburg.

Only specifically identified cars will be allowed on the highway during the previous run, although persons attending the public ceremonies at the interchanges will be permitted on the turnpike mainline as pedestrians.

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—The air force today quoted 2nd Lieut. Luther C. Bares, pilot who survived a crash of three F-86 fighters, as saying the pilots misjudged altitude in a haze and flew into a body of water in tight formation.

Stops will be made at other interchanges along the new turnpike route, the caravan arriving at the Gettysburg interchange on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road at 4:15 p.m. M. S. TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mrs. Buehler's Burial Held Sunday: Mrs. Huber G. Buehler, Lakeville, Conn., who died Friday when she fell 14 stories from her room at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel in Philadelphia to the street below, was buried in Evergreen cemetery Sunday afternoon. Short private services were held at the grave.

Mrs. Buehler's late husband was headmaster of the Gettysburg academy between 1885 and 1892, before going to the staff of the Hotchkiss school, in Connecticut.

Mrs. Buehler was the former Roberta Wolf, of Gettysburg.

Tap Deep Well at Biglerville: The deep well at the Hershey creamery, Biglerville, was tapped on Saturday by the Biglerville Water company in order to relieve the water shortage in the upper county community. Water company officials estimated that approximately 75 gallons a minute could be pumped from the creamery well, which, along with the 25 gallons being supplied from the wells at the reservoir, will give Biglerville its customary supply of approximately 100 gallons a minute.

Gettysburg's water supply is holding up well. On Friday, for the first time in almost three weeks, water began spilling over the dam, bearing out an almost uncanny condition by which the stream always rises just before a rain.

Held in Jail: After a hearing before Justice of the Peace Neil W. Gibson on a charge of breaking and entering, Alfred T. Drake, Manchester, England, was committed to the Adams county jail in default of $1,000 bail to await the action of the court. He had been arrested last Monday morning after he was caught following his breaking into the apartment of Christ Mitchell, of Chambersburg street.

Franklin County Girl Weds Gelbert: Following a romance which began at Lebanon Valley college six years ago, Mabel Grace Hafer, of Chambersburg, became the bride of the World Series hero, Magnus Ott Gelbert, the "Carley" Gelbert of Washington Memorial chapel at the St. Louis Cardinals, Thursday in Valley Forge.

Play-by-Play Detail of Bullet-Lehigh Tilt Here: Arrangements were made through the courtesy of several local business men, to receive the play-by-play report of the Gettysburg-Lehigh football game, at Bethlehem, Saturday afternoon.

A special wire was leased direct from Taylor Field to Gettysburg, where an operator flashed details of each play to an operator in Gettysburg. The details were then megaphoned to the crowd gathered in Center Square. The reports were broadcast from the second floor of the News Stand drug store.

The merchants who made possible the services were: The First National bank, C. W. Epley, George L. Taylor, The Gettysburg National bank, P. W. Stallsmith, Fred Faber, Charles W. Gardner, C. W. Cook, Rufus B. Weaver, The Plaza restaurant, The Sweetland, Coffman-Fisher, Zerling's hardware, William Shields.

500 Persons See Shakespeare Play: An audience of 500 persons was thrilled by the presentation of "Julius Caesar," by the Shakespeare players of New York, in the auditorium of the Gettysburg high school Monday evening. More than half of the audience were school children from Gettysburg, Biglerville, Arendtsville, New Oxford and East Berlin.

New Officers of Auxiliary Are Installed: Newly elected officers of the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion of Gettysburg were installed Monday evening in the YWCA, by Mrs. John Hay Smith. The newly elected officers who were installed are: Mrs. George Boehler, president; Mrs. Orville Riley, 1st vice president; Mrs. Emma Mundorff, 2nd vice president; Mrs. William Shover, secretary; Mrs. Leroy Winebrenner, treasurer; Mrs. Fred Haehnen, historian, and Mrs.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
THE WELL NOURISHED MIND
It is easy to detect under-nourishment of the body. We have but to walk down the street and see many an example. It is not so easy to detect this under-nourishment of the mind, without contact with it.

The well-nourished mind is a happy one. Its health is exuberant, kindly, sympathetic, filled with gaiety and poise. A few minutes of contact with such a mind is evidence enough of its health. And you are inspired by its flow of good will and understanding. The mind that gives vent to bitter talk, to uncensored criticism, to meanness and idle gossip, is a mind that is ill nourished.

For the body to be healthy a carefully balanced diet is essential. It is no different with the mind. People who think good thoughts, read books that instruct and inspire, and who look upon all the beauty of this earth, and upon all the beauty that man has created, certainly cannot help but have a healthy mind, and one well nourished.

We can over-eat, though the food may be well selected, but we can't over-learn! The wisest one who ever lived left off on life with a multitude of things unlearned. But anyone can live happily with a well-nourished mind, one that anyone would gladly contact.

No one can have a well-nourished mind without God in it, for He it is who gives us the substance of hope, faith, courage, humility, and the desire to be useful and helpful to others. He is the staff of life to the mind and to the soul, as well. God furnishes to the mind every element essential to its wellbeing and happiness.

People with a well-nourished mind don't needlessly quarrel, they don't find fault, they are not cynical, and they rarely complain, if ever. On the contrary, they are forever giving out cheer and forever inviting others to partake of the things that have brought comfort and happiness to them.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Never Be Too Sure."

LAMPLIGHT
Time was the home was lit with lamps, with fancy ones on chains, And little lamps, and bedroom lamps, and lamps for men of brains. Then those were known as "student lamps," and who to learn, would toil, And sit up late at night to read was burning "midnight oil." I knew them as a little boy, and looking back I'd say That something soft and beautiful with lamplight passed away.

We once had lamps to bear about, not prisoned to a wire. Who carried one from room to room was warned: "Beware of fire." And when at night he went outside, the wood or coal to bring, The boy went gladly to the task. A lantern he could swing! 'Tis strange the way the memory clings to much that once was done. To be allowed to light a lamp I used to think was fun.

Today a button small is pressed and every room's aglow. Lamp chimneys now nobody shines, a task I used to know. Our children haven't seen a lamp and maybe never will, The wick of which I had to smooth; the bowl with oil re-fill. It is a brighter life they know and surely safer, too, But lamps gave home a touch of charm that bulbs can never do. (Copyright, 1950, Edgar A. Guest)

Farmers' Day Successful: The 1950 revival of Farmers' Day was pronounced a success by those in charge of Thursday's event.

At the court house there was an exhibition of livestock, including chickens, turkeys, cows and pigs. The parade, with Henry Carbaugh as marshal, got under way at 10:45 o'clock. Music was furnished by the Gettysburg Boys' band. Parading behind the band were numerous boys and girls in unusual costumes, pushing or pulling various conveyances. A feature of the parade was the gaily decorated automobiles. Automobile dealers took advantage of the parade to advertise the newest in motor cars.

DEWEY SEEKING TO PLAY DOWN HANLEY LETTER

(By The Associated Press)
Bringing up the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Gov. Joe R. Hanley's sought last night to play down the importance of the famous Hanley letter which kept the New York political campaign boiling.

Dewey said there was nothing wrong in Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley's admission that before he had agreed to run for the Senate he had definite assurances he could clean up his financial obligations within 90 days.

The Democrats made the same sort of deal in 1928. Dewey declared in a speech at Newburgh, N. Y. He said the late John J. Raskob underwrote $200,000 in debts for Franklin D. Roosevelt so the late president could run for governor of New York.

Rep. Walter A. Lynch, Dewey's Democratic opponent for reelection, kept hammering at the two-times GOP Republican presidential candidate. Dewey, Lynch said, was responsible for what Hanley did but was making Hanley "take the rap."

"He has been caught and he can't take it," Lynch said in a campaign speech.

Elsewhere, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower reiterated that "I have said frankly over and over that I have no political ambitions." Dewey tossed the Columbia university president's name back into the political ring Sunday when he said he favors Eisenhower as the GOP's presidential candidate in 1952.

Asked if he would run if nominated, Eisenhower told a news conference: "I'm not going to go into all of these hypothetical questions about things that possibly could happen in this country."

In Maryland, Democratic Senator Millard Tydings announced he will take over Fulton Lewis, Jr.'s Mutual network broadcast tonight to defend himself against charges the radio commentator has made against him.

Tydings said he had to go to the Federal Communications commission to get equal network time. Mutual said Lewis had volunteered his time to Tydings. And the commentator said Tydings' statement that he had to go to the FCC was "a cheap, deliberate and contemptible lie."

A spokesman for FCC said it had received a complaint from Tydings, turned it over to the network and taken no further action.

Lewis has been critical of the way Tydings, seeking a fifth Senate term, handled the investigation into charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) of Communists in the State Department.

THREE DEAD IN STORM'S WAKE

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 19 (AP)—High tides tore at Florida beaches and seawalls today, only a few hours after a hurricane ripped the length of the state and fizzled down to squall size as it edged into Georgia.

Three Floridians died in the blow. Property and crop damage was well up in the millions of dollars.

The force of the storm tapered off steadily from the 116-mile-an-hour punch it handed Miami at midnight Tuesday. Still it was the worst in years for many north and central Florida cities.

Today's battle scene was along the miles of east coast resort beaches. Navy men and civilian volunteers worked through the night to sand-bag seawalls and oceanfront houses.

Angry sea waters already had torn away city docks and two fish houses of Indian river at Titusville. One section of seawall at Cocoa collapsed. Many roads and bridges were washed out or were under water.

In three South Florida counties—Dade, Broward and Palm Beach—storm damage was tentatively estimated at $5,000,000 by Chief Storm Forecaster Grady Norton. He said it would rise as more complete reports came in. Newspaper estimates were as high as $8,000,000 for greater Miami alone.

936 Pa. Doctors Signed For Draft

Harrisburg, Oct. 19 (AP)—A total of 936 Pennsylvania doctors signed up for possible military service on Monday as the state held its first medical draft registration.

State Selective Service Director Henry M. Gross announced yesterday that 236 dentists and 92 veterinarians registered at the same time.

Pennsylvania has not yet received its medical draft quota. Gross said, but the Defense Department at Washington, D. C., announced recently some 1,500 medical men will be called up beginning November 15.

Broadcast Letter Of Warsaw Girl

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—A Polish girl's complaint that her Communist youth organization interferes with her private life is supplying ammunition to the "Voice of America."

Officials said today the State Department's overseas radio has been broadcasting in a score of languages a letter written by B. Jankowska of Warsaw. It was published by the newspaper Standar Mlodych under the heading "My Private Life Does Not Concern Anyone."

Miss Jankowska identified herself as a faithful member of the ZMP—the Union of Polish Youths. She was quoted as saying she proposed to continue to use make-up even though the ZMP decreed members must wear butler's uniforms,

DIONNE QUINTS VISIT GOTHAM

New York, Oct. 19 (AP)—Yvonne peered out of the train window and smiled broadly.

Annette smiled, too, but more self-consciously. Emille looked solemn. Cecile gulped when she saw the crowd outside, and Marie looked almost frightened. Or maybe the solemn one was Cecile. And wasn't straight hair, and aum paint and powder.

"That is all very well at 40, but I have no intention of turning into an ascetic," her letter said. "I do not like the stomp of boots on my soul."

The Voice is telling overseas listeners that the boots are just as painful after 40.

Nobody was sure—not even their host, Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York.

The important thing was that all five of the Dionne quintuplets were holding up well under the strain of floodlights, popping flash bulbs and the pushing, curious crowds that greeted their first visit to New York last night.

Out Of The Past
From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times
TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mrs. Buehler's Burial Held Sunday: Mrs. Huber G. Buehler, Lakeville, Conn., who died Friday when she fell 14 stories from her room at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel in Philadelphia to the street below, was buried in Evergreen cemetery Sunday afternoon. Short private services were held at the grave.
Mrs. Buehler's late husband was headmaster of the Gettysburg academy between 1885 and 1892, before going to the staff of the Hotchkiss school in Connecticut.
Mrs. Buehler was the former Roberta Wolf, of Gettysburg.

Tap Deep Well at Biglerville: The deep well at the Hershey creamery, Biglerville, was tapped on Saturday by the Biglerville Water company in order to relieve the water shortage in the upper county community. Water company officials estimated that approximately 75 gallons a minute could be pumped from the creamery well, which along with the 25 gallons being supplied from the wells at the reservoir, will give Biglerville its customary supply of approximately 100 gallons a minute.
Gettysburg's water supply is holding up well. On Friday, for the first time in almost three weeks, water began spilling over the dam, bearing out an almost uncanny condition by which the stream always rises just before a rain.

Held in Jail: After a hearing before Justice of the Peace Neil W. Gibson on a charge of breaking and entering, Alfred T. Drake, Manchester, England, was committed to the Adams county jail in default of $1,000 bail to await the action of the court. He had been arrested last Monday morning after he was caught following his breaking into the apartment of Christ Mitchell, of Chambersburg street.

Franklin County Girl Weds Gelbert: Following a romance which began at Lebanon Valley college six years ago, Mabel Grace Hafer, of Chambersburg, became the bride of the World Series hero, Magnus Ott Gelbert, the "Carley" Gelbert of Washington Memorial chapel at the St. Louis Cardinals, Thursday in Valley Forge.

Play-by-Play Detail of Bullet-Proof Tilt Here: Arrangements were made through the courtesy of several local business men, to receive the play-by-play report of the Gettysburg-Lehigh football game, at Bethlehem, Saturday afternoon.

A special wire was leased direct from Taylor Field to Gettysburg, where an operator flashed details of each play to an operator in Gettysburg. The details were then magnified to the crowd gathered in Center Square. The reports were broadcast from the second floor of the News Stand drug store.

The merchants who made possible the services were: The First National bank, C. W. Epley, George L. Taylor, The Gettysburg National bank, P. W. Stallsmith, Fred Faber, Charles W. Gardner, C. W. Cook, Rufus B. Weaver, The Plaza restaurant, The Sweetland, Coffman-Fisher, Zerling's hardware, William Shields.

500 Persons See Shakespeare Play: An audience of 500 persons was thrilled by the presentation of "Julius Caesar," by the Shakespeare players of New York, in the auditorium of the Gettysburg high school Monday evening. More than half of the audience were school children from Gettysburg, Biglerville, Arundelville, New Oxford and East Berlin.

New Officers of Auxiliary Are Installed: Newly elected officers of the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion of Gettysburg were installed Monday evening in the YWCA, by Mrs. John Hay Smith. The newly elected officers who were installed are: Mrs. George Boehner, president; Mrs. Orville Riley, 1st vice president; Mrs. Emma Mundorf, 2nd vice president; Mrs. William Shover, secretary; Mrs. Leroy Winebrenner, treasurer; Mrs. Fred Hachmen, historian, and Mrs.

Today's Talk

THE WELL NOURISHED MIND
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
It is easy to detect under-nourishment of the body. We have but to walk down the street and see many an example. It is not so easy to detect this under-nourishment of the mind, without contact with it.
The well-nourished mind is a happy one. Its health is exuberant, kindly, sympathetic, filled with gaiety and poise. A few minutes of contact with such a mind is evidence enough of its health. And you are inspired by its flow of good will and understanding. The mind that gives vent to bitter talk, to uncalled-for criticism, to meanness and idle gossip, is a mind that is ill nourished.

For the body to be healthy a carefully balanced diet is essential. It is no different with the mind. People who think good thoughts, read books that instruct and inspire, and who look upon all the beauty of this earth, and upon all the beauty that man has created, certainly cannot help but have a healthy mind, and one well nourished.

We can over-eat, though the food may be well selected, but we can't over-learn! The wisest one who ever lived left off on life with a multitude of things unlearned. But anyone can live happily with a well-nourished mind, one that anyone would gladly contact.

No one can have a well-nourished mind without God in it, for He it is who gives us the substance of hope, faith, courage, humility, and the desire to be useful and helpful to others. He is the staff of life to the mind and to the soul, as well, God furnishes to the mind every element essential to its wellbeing and happiness.

People with a well-nourished mind don't needlessly quarrel, they don't find fault, they are not cynical, and they rarely complain, if ever. On the contrary, they are forever giving out cheer and forever inviting others to partake of the things that have brought comfort and happiness to them.

LAMPLIGHT
Time was the home was lit with lamps, with fancy ones on chains, and little lamps, and bedroom lamps, and lamps for men of brains. Then these were known as "student lamps," and who to learn, would toil, and sit up late at night to read, was burning "midnight oil." I knew them as a little boy, and looking back I'd say that something soft and beautiful with lamplight passed away.

We once had lamps to bear about, not prisoned to a wire. Who carried one from room to room was warned: "Beware of fire." And when at night he went outside, the wood or coal to bring. The boy went gladly to the task. A lantern he could swing! 'Tis strange the way the memory clings to much that once was done. To be allowed to light a lamp I used to think was fun.

Today a button small is pressed and every room's aglow. Lamp chimneys now nobody shines, a task I used to know.

Our children haven't seen a lamp and maybe never will. The wick of which I had to smooth; the bowl with oil re-fill. It is a brighter life they know and surely safer, too. But lamps gave home a touch of charm that bulbs can never do.

Lease Lincoln Way Inn to Hotelman: Kenneth J. Lynch, proprietor of the Lincoln Way inn, has announced that he has leased the place for one year to A. A. Maust, formerly proprietor of the New Colonial hotel, Myersdale.
One of Mr. Maust's seven children, John Daniel Maust, is a student at Gettysburg college.

Farmers' Day Successful: The 1950 revival of Farmers' Day was pronounced a success by those in charge of Thursday's event. At the court house there was an exhibition of livestock, including chickens, turkeys, cows and pigs. The parade, with Henry Carbaugh as marshal, got under way at 10:45 o'clock. Music was furnished by the Gettysburg Boys' band. Parading behind the band were numerous boys and girls in unusual costumes, pushing or pulling various conveyances. A feature of the parade was the gaily decorated automobiles. Automobile dealers took advantage of the parade to advertise the newest in motor cars.

DEWEY SEEKING TO PLAY DOWN HANLEY LETTER

(By The Associated Press)
Bringing up the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Gov. Joe R. Hanley sought last night to play down the importance of the famous Hanley letter which kept the New York political campaign boiling.
Dewey said there was nothing wrong in Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley's admission that before he had agreed to run for the Senate he had definite assurances he could clean up his financial obligations within 90 days.

The Democrats made the same sort of deal in 1928. Dewey declared in a speech at Newburgh, N. Y. He said the late John J. Raskob underwrote $200,000 in debts for Franklin D. Roosevelt so the late president could run for governor of New York.
Rep. Walter A. Lynch, Dewey's Democratic opponent for reelection, kept hammering at the two-times GOP Republican presidential candidate. Dewey, Lynch said, was responsible for what Hanley did but is making Hanley "take the rap."
"He has been caught and he can't take it," Lynch said in a campaign speech.

Elsewhere, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower reiterated that "I have said frankly over and over that I have no political ambitions." Dewey tossed the Columbia university president's name back into the political ring Sunday when he said he favors Eisenhower as the GOP's presidential candidate in 1952.

Asked if he would run if nominated, Eisenhower told a news conference: "I'm not going to go into all of these hypothetical questions about things that possibly could happen in this country."
In Maryland, Democratic Senator Millard Tydings announced he will take over Fulton Lewis, Jr.'s Mutual network broadcast tonight to defend himself against charges the radio commentator has made against him.

Tydings said he had to go to the Federal Communications commission to get equal network time. Mutual said Lewis had volunteered his time to Tydings. And the commentator said Tydings' statement that he had to go to the FCC was "a cheap, deliberate and contemptible lie."

A spokesman for FCC said it had received a complaint from Tydings, turned it over to the network and taken no further action.
Lewis has been critical of the way Tydings, seeking a fifth Senate term, handled the investigation into charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) of Communists in the State Department.

THREE DEAD IN STORM'S WAKE

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 19 (AP)—High tides tore at Florida beaches and seawalls today, only a few hours after a hurricane ripped the length of the state and fizzled down to squall size as it edged into Georgia. Three Floridians died in the blow. Property and crop damage was well up in the millions of dollars.

The force of the storm tapered off steadily from the 116-mile-an-hour punch it handed Miami at midnight Tuesday. Still it was the worst in years for many north and central Florida cities.
Today's battle scene was along the miles of east coast resort beaches. Navy men and civilian volunteers worked through the night to sand-bag seawalls and oceanfront houses. Angry sea waters already had torn away city docks and two fish houses of Indian river at Titusville. One section of seawall at Cocoa collapsed. Many roads and bridges were washed out or were under water.

In three South Florida counties—Dade, Broward and Palm Beach—storm damage was tentatively estimated at $5,000,000 by Chief Storm Forecaster Grady Norton. He said it would rise as more complete reports came in. Newspaper estimates were as high as $2,000,000 for greater Miami alone.

936 Pa. Doctors Signed For Draft

Harrisburg, Oct. 19 (AP)—A total of 936 Pennsylvania doctors stood up for possible military service on Monday as the state held its first medical draft registration.
State Selective Service Director Henry M. Gross announced yesterday that 236 dentists and 92 veterinarians registered at the same time.

Pennsylvania has not yet received its medical draft quota, Gross said, but the Defense Department at Washington, D. C., announced recently some 1,500 medical men will be called up beginning November 15.

Broadcast Letter Of Warsaw Girl

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—A Polish girl's complaint that her Communist youth organization interferes with her private life is supplying ammunition to the "Voice of America."
Officials said today the State Department's overseas radio has been broadcasting in a score of languages a letter written by B. Jankowska of Warsaw. It was published by the newspaper Standard Mlodziez under the heading "My Private Life Does Not Concern Anyone."
Miss Jankowska identified herself as a faithful member of the ZMP—the Union of Polish Youth. She was quoted as saying she proposed to continue to use make-up even though the ZMP decreed members must wear butler's uniforms, straight hair, and staid paint and powder.

"That is all very well at 49, but I have no intention of turning into an ascetic," her letter said. "I do not like the stamp of boots on my soul."

The Voice is telling overseas listeners that the boots are just as painful after 40.

DIONNE QUINTS VISIT GOTHAM

New York, Oct. 19 (AP)—Yvonne peered out of the train window and smiled broadly.
Annette smiled, too, but more self-consciously. Emilie looked solemn. Cecile gulped when she saw the crowd outside, and Marie looked almost frightened. Or maybe the solemn one was Cecile. And wasn't it a sight to see the quintuplets in their black and white uniforms, straight hair, and staid paint and powder.

"That is all very well at 49, but I have no intention of turning into an ascetic," her letter said. "I do not like the stamp of boots on my soul."

The Voice is telling overseas listeners that the boots are just as painful after 40.

Nobody was sure—not even their host, Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York.
The important thing was that all five of the Dionne quintuplets were holding up well under the strain of floodlights, popping flash bulbs and the pushing, curious crowds that greeted their first visit to New York last night.
As for what the 16-year-old quintuplets thought of New York, they said—in timid but easy English—that the bright lights were "wonderful" and

VFW AMBULANCE ANSWERED 145 CALLS IN YEAR

The ambulance of Memorial Post No. 6658, Veterans of Foreign Wars of Emmitsburg answered 105 emergency calls and 41 non-emergency calls, or a total of 145, between July 1, 1949 and June 30, 1950, according to the annual report of ambulance activities in Maryland compiled by the Maryland state police and associated services.

One hundred and forty-three patients were served by the Emmitsburg ambulance, 50 of them male and 91 female. Sex of two others was not given. The ambulance made 97 day trips and 48 night trips, covered 9,132 miles and was in service 264 hours. There were 113 cases of illness and 18 accident patients.

Serves Wide Area

These services were requested by two institutions, 67 by physicians, 42 by private individuals, nine by state police, one by the fire department and six not stated. One hundred and twenty-four were residents of Frederick county, two of Baltimore county, one Allegany county, one Baltimore, 11 out of state and four not stated.

In the past several weeks $400 has been spent on improvements to the ambulance in new tires, life guard tubes and new battery. The money was obtained from the recent block dance held by VFW post.

Cost $6,500 in 1947

The ambulance was purchased in the latter part of 1947 at a cost of $6,500. It has a Superior coach body on a Cadillac chassis, and has running hot and cold water facilities.

Tough Fight On Color TV Looms

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—Sleeves were rolled up all around today for what looked like a knock-down, drag-out fight over color television. The Federal Communications commission, which has held aloof from the squabble over color which followed its selection one week ago of Columbia Broadcasting system's color plan as the official system, announced it will vigorously contest court challenges against its order. They have been filed in New York and Chicago by Pilot Radio corporation of America and National Broadcasting company.

At the same time, the commission moved yesterday to get RCA's rejected color system off the airwaves during regular commercial telecasting periods, for which CBS has been given formal licenses effective November 20.

The commission notified NBC, which is affiliated with RCA, that it may continue "experimental" color broadcasts under the RCA system over Washington station WNBW and New York station WNBC, but that these broadcasts may not be handled during "normal broadcast hours" on the NBC network.

bars, hacksaws, for use in automobile accidents. All drivers are on a volunteer basis and the cost of operating the ambulance is paid by the VFW post as part of its community service. The ambulance is free to all residents of the Emmitsburg area. Donations are voluntary on the part of persons requiring ambulance service.

Say Margiotti Is "Much Better"

Harrisburg, Oct. 19 (AP)—The condition of Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, ordered to bed for a rest after suffering a slight heart attack, was reported "much better" today. Margiotti was stricken Tuesday night after attending an all-day session of the State Pardons board.

Attending physicians said they have ordered him to remain in bed at his hotel suite for at least the rest of the week.

Margiotti's illness yesterday forced the State Pardons to continue some 43 cases scheduled for hearings. With Margiotti absent the four-man board lacked the necessary quorum to conduct hearings.

Margiotti's daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Al Sudo, of Pittsburgh, arrived here last night. Mrs. Margiotti is expected today.

One hundred and forty-three patients were served by the Emmitsburg ambulance, 50 of them male and 91 female. Sex of two others was not given. The ambulance made 97 day trips and 43 night trips, covered 9,132 miles and was in service 364 hours. There were 113 cases of illness and 18 accident patients.

Tough Fight On Color TV Looms

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—Sleeves were rolled up all around today for what looked like a knock-down, drag-out fight over color television. The Federal Communications commission, which has held aloof from the squabble over color which followed its selection one week ago of Columbia Broadcasting system's color plan as the official system, announced it will vigorously contest court challenges against its order. They have been filed in New York and Chicago by Pilot Radio corporation of America and National Broadcasting company.

At the same time, the commission moved yesterday to get RCA's rejected color system off the airwaves during regular commercial telecasting periods, for which CBS has been given formal licenses effective November 20.

The commission notified NBC, which is affiliated with RCA, that it may continue "experimental" color broadcasts under the RCA system over Washington station WNBW and New York station WNBC, but that these broadcasts may not be handled during "normal broadcast hours" on the NBC network.

bars, hacksaws, for use in automobile accidents. All drivers are on a volunteer basis and the cost of operating the ambulance is paid by the VFW post as part of its community service. The ambulance is free to all residents of the Emmitsburg area. Donations are voluntary on the part of persons requiring ambulance service.

Say Margiotti Is "Much Better"

Harrisburg, Oct. 19 (AP)—The condition of Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, ordered to bed for a rest after suffering a slight heart attack, was reported "much better" today. Margiotti was stricken Tuesday night after attending an all-day session of the State Pardons board.

Attending physicians said they have ordered him to remain in bed at his hotel suite for at least the rest of the week.

Margiotti's illness yesterday forced the State Pardons to continue some 43 cases scheduled for hearings. With Margiotti absent the four-man board lacked the necessary quorum to conduct hearings. Margiotti's daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Al Sudo, of Pittsburgh, arrived here last night. Mrs. Margiotti is expected today.

ENGINEER AND FIREMEN DIE IN DERAILMENT

Oneida, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—The New York Central railroad's "North Star" express, streaking westward in the darkness, was violently derailed here early today at a cost of two lives and 15 injured.

The fleet passenger train, roaring through this central New York flatland at a 75-mile-an-hour clip, hurtled the rails in the heart of Oneida. A steel freight-car door that had fallen in the path of the limited was blamed for the wreck.

The engineer and firemen were killed. None of the injured was reported in serious condition.

200 Were Aboard

The steam locomotive and all 11 cars of the flyer plunged off the tracks and tore up 500 yards of the Central's four-track main line, which hugs the north bank of the New York state barge canal. Traffic was re-routed over the Central's parallel West Shore railroad on the other side of the canal.

The conductor, Paul J. Schaefer of Albany, said about 200 passengers were aboard, more than usual because of fog-bound air transportation in New York city.

All of the injured were in the second coach, the third car behind the locomotive. Ahead of it was another coach and a baggage car. The rest of the train comprised a club car and sleepers.

Sgt. Harold Lutz of the state police said the freight-car door, cut in two by the grinding wheels of the train, lay in the center of the tracks about in the middle of the train.

Augustus Hart, superintendent of the Central's lines east of Buffalo, said the door caused the wreck. He said he did not know what train the door came from. However, an eastbound freight had passed through Oneida shortly before the accident.

Philadelphia, Oct. 19 (AP)—Some 6,000 employees of nearly 400 wallpaper plants in 23 cities returned to work today with a contract calling for increased salaries and longer vacations.

The strike, which had idled most of the nation's wallpaper industry since September 1, ended last night with members of the AFL-United Wallpaper Craftsmen and Workers union accepting a wage increase of 12½ cents an hour. Workers with 15 years of service or more also will receive three, instead of a two-week paid vacation.

President Truman told Congress last winter that some veterans were using the plan as an unemployment compensation program. The Veterans administration has claimed that many schools have "abused" it.

STATE SEAL OF PENNSYLVANIA ADOPTED IN '93

Pennsylvania's State Seal is an impressed device, attached to documents to authenticate the official acts of the commonwealth and the signatures of its elected and commissioned officers.

The Seal is in the custody of the Secretary of the Commonwealth. There were three kinds of seals used in the days of the Province of Pennsylvania which later became the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The Great Seal had an obverse and reverse face. It appeared on treaties, proclamations and other important documents.

Today you can see it affixed to the Pennsylvania Week Proclamation of Governor James H. Duff in which he proclaims October 16 to 22 as the annual celebration of the Commonwealth.

Used Lesser Seal
Years ago, the Lesser Seal was impressed upon the laws, decisions of the supreme court and less important and judicial papers. The Seal at Arms which varied with the different Provincial governors may be seen upon summons to the General Assembly and orders addressed

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg — The organization meeting of the Emmitsburg High School Future Teachers of America was held recently. Officers elected were: President, Lola Liller, and secretary, Mabelle Carson. These of-to Provincial officials. The Constitutional Convention of 1776 provided that all commissions should be marked with the State Seal, but it was not until 1778 that a seal appeared bearing the inscription "Seal of the State of Pennsylvania." It has been modified several times.

The Great Seal, described in the Act of March 2, 1803, was used for 40 years. Modifications were used in 1854 and 1858, and a correction made in 1868. The Seal now in use was adopted in 1893 although use was made of the older design for a year or two after that date. The new design omitted the festoon about the upper part of the shield and the ship and plough were faced from right to left.

The Great Seal of William Penn was the color of red wax of which it was composed. Then followed one of white which persisted until 1852 when other tints were used. Governor Elyzer used a yellow and sometimes a green one. Governor Curtin's seals were red or yellow. The use of the all seals began with Governor Carey and still continues.

ficers will attend the second annual convention at Towson State Teachers college, November 3. Other members, Virginia Baumgardner, Thelma Bollinger, and Lois Ann Keilbers of the P. T. A. are Betty Ann Holtz.

The first issue of the E-H Times is to be out by November 15, according to an announcement made by the editor, Lola Liller. This year's staff for the E-H Times is: Editor-in-chief, Lola Liller, associate editor, May Belle Carson; business managers, Harold Keilholz, Clifford McKill, Kenneth Warner Keilholz; alumni editor, Doris Wastler; club editor, Barbara Fisher; P. T. A. reporter, Thomas Hays; personality editors, Hazel Hines, Euclid Jones; literary editor, Lois Ann Keilholz; junior high editor, Mary Shields; elementary editor, Gwenda Oregger; class reporters, 7th, Lois Linn; 8th, Beulah Glass; 9th, George Tyler; 10th, Virginia Baumgardner; 11th, Edward Peters; 12th, Mary June Davis; feature editor, Shirley Troxell; exchange editor, Richard Stambaugh. The faculty adviser is Mrs. Hazel Caldwell.

An unusual Halloween dance will be held by the Emmitsburg high on Friday night, October 27, 8 p.m. The tenth grade is sponsoring the dance. A king and queen are being elected by the students this week and will be upon the throne. The dance will be for the students with the privilege given to each student to invite one outside friend.

PROMISE PROBE OF AID TO REDS

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP) — A swift inquiry was promised by a Senate subcommittee today to find out what the government has done since the Korean war to halt the flow of strategic materials to Communist China.

Senator O'Connor (D-Md.), chairman of the group, said State and Commerce Department officials will be called for questioning tomorrow in a quick follow-up to testimony about delivery of steel plates and other equipment to Red China ports.

by an American ship. He said he regards as "repres- hensible" any shipment of strategic materials to Communist China since the fighting in Korea started last June.

The Commerce subcommittee started out to investigate a charge that the Flying Cloud, a ship of the Isbrandtsen Line, had been "block- ade running" to Red China from Japan, but O'Connor said its inquiry will not be confined to that.

The Red river of the North runs from the Minnesota-North Dakota border to Lake Winnipeg in Canada.

ENGINEER AND FIREMEN DIE IN DERAILMENT

Oneda, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—The New York Central railroad's "North Star" express, streaking westward in the darkness, was violently derailed here early today at a cost of two lives and 15 injured.

The fleet passenger train, roaring through this central New York flatland at a 75-mile-an-hour clip, hurtled the rails in the heart of Oneda. A steel freight-car door that had fallen in the path of the limited was blamed for the wreck.

The engineer and firemen were killed.

None of the injured was reported in serious condition.

200 Were Aboard

The steam locomotive and all 11 cars of the flyer plunged off the tracks and tore up 500 yards of the Central's four-track main line, which hugs the north bank of the New York state barge canal. Traffic was re-routed over the Central's parallel West Shore railroad on the other side of the canal.

The conductor, Paul J. Schaefer of Albany, said about 200 passengers were aboard, more than usual because of fog-bound air transportation in New York City.

All of the injured were in the second coach, the third car behind the locomotive. Ahead of it was an other coach and a baggage car. The rest of the train comprised a club car and sleepers.

Sgt. Harold Lutz of the state police said the freight-car door, cut in two by the grinding wheels of the train, lay in the center of the tracks about in the middle of the train.

Augustus Hart, superintendent of the Central's lines east of Buffalo, said he did not know what train the door came from. However, an eastbound freight had passed through Oneda shortly before the accident.

Philadelphia, Oct. 19 (AP)—Some 6,000 employees of nearly 40 wallpaper plants in 23 cities returned to work today with a contract calling for increased salaries and longer vacations.

The strike, which had idled most of the nation's wallpaper industry since September 1, ended last night with members of the AFL-United Wallpaper Craftsmen and Workers union accepting a wage increase of 12½ cents an hour. Workers with 15 years of service or more also will receive three, instead of a two-week paid vacation.

TRUMAN NAILS FLAG TO MAST IN FRISCO TALK

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

President Truman's foreign policy speech at San Francisco, following his conference on Wake Island with General MacArthur, certainly nails Uncle Sam's flag to the mast.

The Chief Executive's hard-hitting report to the nation was at once a call to Russia to turn to ways of peace, and a warning that America will go to war to resist aggression and defend her liberties. And not only will the United States fight to defend herself, but she will lend aid to those struggling against aggression.

The zone of operations appears to be global, for the President pledged American support for all Atlantic nations in their defense against attacks by the Soviet Union or its satellites. Indeed, he went further and offered "full partnership to the peoples of Asia" in building up their living standards.

No "Lone Wolf" Plans

However, America doesn't propose to play the lone wolf in this sweeping program, for Mr. Truman said: "The free men of the world have but one choice if they are to remain free. They must oppose strength with strength."

"This is not a task for the United States alone. It is a task for the free nations to undertake together. And the free nations are undertaking it together."

Two Schools of Thought

The Atlantic commitment is an interesting and significant development. There have been two schools of thought regarding the relative importance of Asia and Europe in the matter of defense. MacArthur has placed emphasis on Asia, while some high quarters in Washington have maintained that Europe is the more vital and have proposed that some Allied troops be taken from Asia to strengthen Europe.

Thus it would appear that General MacArthur must have presented some very convincing arguments to the President regarding Asiatic needs. Moreover, observers consider that the President's pledge for Asia was broad enough to cover the defense of Indo-China and the big island of Formosa, which now is the last ditch stand of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and his Nationalist government.

Priest Rescues Bible From Fire

Saginaw, Mich. Oct. 19 (AP)—The Rev. Father Andrea F. Dargatzis was acclaimed a hero by his flock today.

The priest risked his life to save the Sacred Book from flames that swept St. Demetrios Greek Orthodox church on Tuesday.

Informed that his church was afire, Father Dargatzis rushed to the building to find it a mass of flames. He ran into the sanctuary, grabbed the big Bible from the rostrum and emerged with it unharmed. He was dripping wet from water that firemen poured onto the flaming roof and spire.

Plastic Stays Support Weak Ankles

During early walking days, Junior may need help. If his ankles are weak, they may need some extra support.

The "Corset Shoe" has 3 plastic stays that are inserted into inside pockets. A little flap covers the pocket and permits removal or insertion of these stays as needed. There are many other features in this wonderful little shoe. Let us tell you more about it.

Stork Wins Expectant Dad Delay From Duty

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 19 (AP)—Lieut. Edgar M. Guber, a reserve bombardier-navigator, was ordered to active duty effective November 2. He filled out the air force forms.

Married? Nine years. Children? None. "But expecting one about December 15," Guber wrote as an afterthought.

His orders were amended yesterday, Guber said, to give him 60 more days—time enough to become a papa.

Palm Springs, Calif., Oct. 19 (AP)—Old-fashioned corsets went out of style and peptic ulcers among women declined, says a medical expert.

Using the year 1900 as a turning point, Dr. Andrew C. Ivy said that before the turn of the century there were about three times as many peptic ulcer cases among women as among men. Today, since the stiff stays and tight lacing have been tossed out the style window, the ratio is reversed.

Philadelphia Port Led To Launching Of First U.S. Navy

The Keystone state wrote one of the most important verses in the song of the sea.

One of the contributing reasons for the growth of the great Philadelphia port was laid in the summer of 1775 when the waterfront was the busiest place in the new world and the struggle for independence was already under way.

Seaboard trading and trans-oceanic vessels sailed up the Delaware to safe anchorage in Philadelphia laden with food, clothing, munitions and other products. Here was the major lifeline of the Colonial world.

To protect this lifeline from destruction and to insure the safety of the capital city, Philadelphia, from attack by sea was of paramount importance.

Create A Navy

The Committee of Safety of Pennsylvania acted first, three months before the Continental Congress got around to taking the first steps toward creating a Continental Navy. On July 19, 1775, the first vessel was already bouncing on the choppy Delaware waters. She was the Experiment, from the yards of John Wharton. Eleven more followed in short order and by September 15, little more than two months after the work was undertaken, the Pennsylvania Navy of 12 ships had been outfitted and manned and put on a the flotilla before it reached Philadelphia.

Violent Battle

Meeting near the mouth of Christina Creek, far below the city, the fleets engaged in violent battle, marked by terrific cannonading but resulting in only minor damages to either side.

The battle continued until the enemy ships gave up and sailed off for the capes. The State Navy pursued as far as New Castle and then returned to home port.

The most notable victory of the state fleet came more than a year later, October 22, 1779, when it met the enemy fleet coming up the Delaware to an attack on Fort Mercer, now Red Bank, N. J.

John Hazlewood, promoted to Commodore, was in command of the boats that drove the enemy fleet downriver.

Delaying Actions

That was the high point of the career of the State Navy. There were other minor engagements and delaying actions but nothing of a decisive nature.

In April, 1778, after the British captured Philadelphia by land, General Washington ordered the little fleet scuttled to save it from capture. It lived again for a brief period, however, when Commodore Hazlewood raised it after the British evacuated the city. Its subsequent service, until it was abandoned in 1781, was obscure. But in its day it wrote a vivid chapter in the pages of American history, a chapter that should never be forgotten by sons and daughters of Pennsylvania.

Eleven more followed in short order and by September 15, little more than two months after the work was undertaken, the Pennsylvania Navy of 12 ships had been officered and manned and put on a permanent footing.

None of these boats were large. Wharton's boat, for instance, was only 50 feet long, 13 feet wide and four and one-half feet deep. The average cost was 550 pounds. Each was propelled by rowers and carried two howitzers, swivels, pikes and muskets. Their very lack of size was in their favor, however, because of their greater maneuverability in the confined river water.

Floating Batteries

During the following year two floating batteries were added to the fleet. Later came a real warship, a five sloop and six guard boats. By August 1 of that year, there were 27 commissioned vessels and 768 men in actual naval service.

The first Commodore, appointed October 23, 1775, was Thomas Reed, Captain Nicholas Biddle, Josiah James, Charles Alexander and Henry Dougherty were other well known patriots identified with the State Navy.

By May 6, 1776, an alarm was sounded that two enemy warships, large ocean-going vessels, plus numerous auxiliary ships were coming up the bay. The Pennsylvania Navy, with speed belying its inexperience, went into action. Thirteen of the tiny boats together with the fresh ship Aetna were down river to intercept the flotilla before it reached Philadelphia.

Violent Battle

Meeting near the mouth of Christina Creek, far below the city, the fleets engaged in violent battle, marked by terrific cannonading but resulting in only minor damages to either side.

The battle continued until the enemy ships gave up and sailed off for the capes. The State Navy pursued as far as New Castle and then returned to home port.

TRUMAN NAILS FLAG TO MAST IN FRISCO TALK

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

President Truman's foreign policy speech at San Francisco, following his conference on Wake Island with General MacArthur, certainly nails Uncle Sam's flag to the mast.

The Chief Executive's hard-hitting report to the nation was at once a call to Russia to turn to ways of peace, and a warning that America will go to war to resist aggression and defend her liberties. And not only will the United States fight to defend herself, but she will lend aid to those struggling against aggression.

The zone of operations appears to be global, for the President pledged American support for all Asiatic nations in their defense against attacks by the Soviet Union or its satellites. Indeed, he went further and offered "full partnership to the peoples of Asia" in building up their living standards.

No "Lone Wolf" Plans
However, America doesn't propose to play the lone wolf in this sweeping program, for Mr. Truman said: "The free men of the world have but one choice if they are to remain free. They must oppose strength with strength."

"This is not a task for the United States alone. It is a task for the free nations to undertake together. And the free nations are undertaking it together."

Two Schools of Thought
The Asiatic commitment is an interesting and significant development. There have been two schools of thought regarding the relative importance of Asia and Europe in the matter of defense. MacArthur has placed emphasis on Asia, while some high quarters in Washington have maintained that Europe is the more vital and have proposed that some Allied troops be taken from Asia to strengthen Europe.

Thus it would appear that General MacArthur must have presented some very convincing arguments to the President regarding Asiatic needs. Moreover, observers consider that the President's pledge for Asia was broad enough to cover the defense of Indo-China and the big island of Formosa, which now is the last ditch stand of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and his Nationalist government.

Priest Rescues Bible From Fire

Saginaw, Mich., Oct. 19 (AP)—The Rev. Father Andrea F. Dargatzis was acclaimed a hero by his flock today. The priest risked his life to save the Sacred Book from flames that swept St. Demetrios Greek Orthodox church on Tuesday.

Informing that his church was afire, Father Dargatzis rushed to the building to find it a mass of flames. He ran into the sanctuary, grabbed the big Bible from the rostrum and emerged with it unharmed. He was dripping wet from water that firemen poured onto the flaming roof and spire.

PLASTIC STAYS SUPPORT WEAK ANKLES

During early walking days, Junior may need help. If his ankles are weak, they may need some extra support. The "Corset Shoe" has 3 plastic stays that are inserted into inside pockets. A little flap covers the pocket and permits removal or insertion of these stays as needed. There are many other features in this wonderful little shoe. Let us tell you more about it.

Stork Wins Expectant Dad Delay From Duty

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 19 (P)—Lieut. Edgar M. Guber, a reserve bombardier-navigator, was ordered to active duty effective November 2. He filled out the air force forms.

His orders were awarded yesterday, Guber said, to give him 60 more days—time enough to become a papa.

Palm Springs, Calif., Oct. 19 (P)—Old-fashioned corsets went out of style and peptic ulcers among women declined, says a medical expert.

York, Lancaster, Philadelphia Were Former Capitals Of U.S.

Until the Capital of the country was established in Washington, D. C., it had been in Pennsylvania, and in more places than in any other state.

Prior to 1800, when Washington, D. C., was made the U. S. Capital, Philadelphia was the seat of the nation's government on four different occasions for a total of more than 16 years. Philadelphia was the first and last of the eight capitals which preceded Washington. Other Pennsylvania capitals were Lancaster and York. Lancaster has the added distinction of also once being the Capital City of Pennsylvania, as it is Philadelphia. The Pennsylvania State Capital was moved from Philadelphia to Lancaster in 1799 and from Lancaster to Harrisburg in 1812.

First Capital

Philadelphia was the first capital of the Province until 1776, capital of the United Colonies until 1781, capital of the United States under the Articles of Confederation from 1781 to 1790 and under the Constitution from 1790 to 1800 when Washington, D. C., took over.

From 1790 until 1800, when Philadelphia held the seat of the National Government, the City of Brotherly Love was the largest and wealthiest city in the United States.

Carpenter's Hall, in Philadelphia, led the parade of Capitals. In December, 1776, the Continental Congress was off on the first of its journeys. Baltimore was its next stop, where it remained two months before returning to the State House, now Independence Hall, in Philadelphia, for a stay of six months.

Moved To Lancaster

The arrival of the British in Philadelphia caused the flight of the Continental Congress to Lancaster. September 27, 1777. The next day, the governmental caravan moved across the Susquehanna to the comparative safety of York. By doing so, they made York the national capital from September 30 to June 27, 1778. In the old York county courthouse, the Congress passed the Articles of Confederation, received the news of Burgoyne's surrender, issued the first national Thanksgiving proclamation, received word from Franklin in Paris that France would aid the cause of the new country with money, ships, and men. They received Von Steuben and Lafayette and commissioned them Major-Generals. In York, $1,500,000 in silver, lent by France, was brought in September 1778, and there Benja-

Ratify Treaty

Highlight of the stay in York came when the Treaty of Alliance with France was ratified in the old York Court House. Towards the middle of June 1778, troops began leaving York to rejoin Washington's army and several days later, more troops and a goodly amount of Congressmen took off for Philadelphia.

Symbolically, the last of the troops and the Congressmen, arrived at Philadelphia on July 4. After a day in Lancaster and nine months in York, it was back to Philadelphia, but not immediately to Independence Hall. During the next four years, Congress heard the bang of the gavel first in the College of Philadelphia and later in a meeting house before the return to the birthplace of the Declaration of Independence.

During the next 16 months, Congress wandered from Princeton, New Jersey, to Annapolis, Maryland, to Trenton, New Jersey. Then for five and one-half years, the capital was in New York's City Hall, extensively remodeled and renamed Federal Hall.

deportation by Bulgaria's Red government of minority Turks across Greek soil.

Immigrants of tagged and destitute Poles, a Moslem minority group in Bulgaria made up mostly of people of Turkish descent, are helplessly stalled at the village of Python on the Greek-Turkish border because, although they have been ousted from their tiny Bulgarian farms, Turkey will not accept them.

New York, Oct. 19 (AP)—The World Medical Association (WMA)—told that "many a doctor" is practicing euthanasia—voted Tuesday to condemn the mercy killings.

The WMA general assembly adopted a resolution "calling euthanasia 'contrary to the public interest and to medical principles as well as to natural and civil rights'." The WMA, composed of 41 national medical associations in 41 countries, recommended that the association in each country "condemn the practice of euthanasia under any circumstances."

Harrisburg, Oct. 19 (AP)—A total of 915 persons died on Pennsylvania highways during the first eight months of this year, according to figures of the State Bureau of Highway Safety. The bureau said this is 31 less than for the same period a year ago.

The USS Constitution, "Old Ironsides," carried 24-pound guns, compared with the 18-pounders of British frigates of the time.

SAY FORMOSA ISSUE DECIDED

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—The report that President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur have reached agreement on the Formosa issue opened anew today the question of what exactly are American aims for the future of that strategic island.

The heart of the question is: To what extent will the United States try to keep Formosa, now held by the Chinese Nationalists, from falling into the hands of the Chinese Communists?

Up to the time of the Truman-MacArthur conference on Wake Island last Sunday, there was considerable evidence that the two men did not see eye to eye. MacArthur clearly favored a determined policy to keep Formosa permanently out of Communist control. Mr. Truman favored neutralizing the island during the Korean war and thereafter settling its status peacefully through the United Nations.

The key to the reported agreement may be this. Although he seeks a peaceful solution in accord with other friendly nations, the President may have no intention of letting that solution take the form of handing Formosa over to the Chinese Reds.

That is, the reported agreement may have taken the form of an assurance by Mr. Truman to MacArthur that his policies, developing within the U. N., are aimed at permanently neutralizing the island.

PETROLEUM promotes PROGRESS!

Since World War II crude oil reserves, production, refining capacity and distribution facilities have increased to such an extent that it now appears possible to provide for the mounting military requirements without seriously affecting our domestic economy. PETROLEUM promotes PROGRESS!

Since World War II crude oil reserves, production, refining capacity and distribution facilities have increased to such an extent that it now appears possible to provide for the mounting military requirements without seriously affecting our domestic economy. This condition has been brought about by the highly competitive nature of the oil business. We are proud to be a part of this great industry.

KOREANS WRITES YANK'S WIDOW

Collingdale, Pa., Oct. 19 (AP)—Two little girls, whose father wrote the now famous "Dear Joanne and Rosemarie" letter, have received another bit of mail they probably will cherish in the years to come.

A letter of sympathy and $50 contributed by nine Koreans was presented yesterday to the widow of Private First Class John J. McCormick.

McCormick wrote to his daughters, Rosemarie, six, and Joanne, three, shortly before he was killed in action last August 10. In the letter, which reached the children September 14, he explained he was fighting so his loved ones could live in peace.

On September 30, nine Koreans

appeared at the Tokyo office of News-Week magazine and said they wanted to let Mrs. McCormick know "there are good and decent people in Korea as well as bad ones."

Explaining that they wished the $50 to go toward the children's education, the Koreans wrote: "As your brave husband said in that letter there are many bad people who bring misery and destruction to humanity. However, we should like to tell you that there are a great many good and courageous people, of which Mr. McCormick was certainly an outstanding example. It is the effect of these good people and under his guidance that keeps the world going in spite of evil done by bad people. This is but one reason for our trust in God.

"We are a group of Korean evacuees who try to be good Koreans. We deeply regret that the bad people your husband fought to his death were Koreans. As good and loyal

British Women's Eyes Have It

London, Oct. 19 (AP)—O. D. Rasmussen, who has been gazing into women's eyes the world over for years, says women of British's upper middle class have the most beautiful eyes in the world.

Writing in Vision, a magazine of the Association of Optical Practitioners, O. D. Rasmussen sizes up women's eyes this way:

French—Their eyes have a certain hardness.

German—Too staring.

American—"Too intelligent."

Russian—"Not intelligent enough."

Koreans, we are trying to do our share for the cause of human happiness and world brotherhood—the same cause for which your valiant husband laid down his life on the Korean front."

GOP ADVANCES HARMONY MOVE

Harrisburg, Oct. 19 (AP)—A new Republican harmony move shaped up today with an invitation to Jay Cooke to speak from the same platform as former Judge John S. Fine.

Cooke lost the Republican nomination for Governor to Fine in a May 16 primary fight that split Pennsylvania Republicans right down the middle.

State Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, GOP state chairman and an ally of the victorious faction led by Fine and Gov. James H. Duff, has invited Cooke to attend a so-called "grand old-fashioned party" at nearby Hershey tomorrow night.

And General Weldon B. Heyburn, Cooke's campaign manager in the primary, said Cooke has tentatively accepted the bid if it is possible to ease himself out of a business commitment involving a week-end trip to Florida.

The Hershey rally is sponsored by the Republican state finance committee. Duff, Fine and Cooke are each listed for five-minute speeches, a committee spokesman said. Heyburn said he will attend the affair, too.

The Hershey invitation, if it finally sees Cooke speak publicly in behalf of Fine, would culminate a series of harmony efforts started a week ago at Philadelphia.

Fine disclosed he conferred with Cooke at a luncheon. Afterwards he said the Republican party is "united" for the November 7 general election. And U. S. Sen. Edward Martin, another of Fine's critics in the primary, showed up Tuesday night at a Washington, Pa., rally for Fine. Fine publicly welcomed Martin as one of his supporters in the general election.

U.S. Considers Ban On Some Building

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—Despite forceful objections from the building industry, the government today considered an emergency ban on the construction of race tracks, dance halls, bowling alleys and other amusement spots.

New moving picture theaters and night clubs might also be included, but officials of the National Production Authority (NPA) said the scope of the proposed order remains to be worked out. Its aim is to save materials for munitions.

The move would be a stiff blow to the already-tottering building boom. Severe limitations on private real estate credit and federal home financing were imposed Thursday, and a limitation on commercial construction credit—affecting stores and office buildings—is expected to follow.

Still another slap at credit expanion, in the form of a Federal Reserve Board order tightening bank reserve requirements, became more likely. The board yesterday reported that bank loans to business houses hit another record high last year. Beans were taken to Europe from America by early explorers.

The RANGE DOCTOR

by OSCAR J. FRIEND

Chapter 16

Matlock was on hand late Tuesday morning when Jess Plum drove to town with his cargo of strange freight and his stranger tale.

"Hey, Sheriff!" Plum called, "I got something fer ye."

Matlock stirred unhappily, stretched, and lumbered over to the wagon.

"I've brung ye three more today," Plum informed, indicating the lumpy appearance of his wagon sheet.

"Huh?" The Sheriff turned his head slightly to stare into the wagon. "Ain't this gettin' to be a habit with you, Plum?"

"I hope not. These air the Pelham murderers."

Matlock lost his lethargic majesty and stepped around to the wagon tailgate. Affixed to the underside of each corpse was a playing card, an ace with writing across the face.

The Range Doctor

"Wait right here!" Matlock ordered, sensing a situation with which he could not cope. "I'll call Judge Steele."

He almost ran into the courthouse, returning immediately with the white-haired judge in tow.

"The Pelham killers, your Honor," he announced.

The judge almost recoiled at the ghastly sight. He looked up at the mountaineer with grave eyes.

"Can you identify these bodies?"

Plum nodded and pointed with his chin. "The ace 'o spades is Gabe Duncan. The ace 'o diamonds was introduced to me as Zeke Lemley. The ace 'o clubs was called Gip Knowles. They was shot about midnight up at my place by the man who wrote on them cards."

"Who was it?"

"He called himself the range doctor. He was a masked stranger and talked in a hoarse whisper," Plum answered steadily.

"Who told you these men were the Pelham killers?"

"They did. They got drunk and bragged openly about it to me. They was goin' to kill me then when the stranger walked in and shot 'em."

"I see." The judge nodded thoughtfully. "Matlock, go with this man to Hoskell's. I'll try to find Dr. Logan and meet you there."

He had no difficulty locating the doctor. This morning Logan had arranged his affairs to be on hand for the occasion.

"Good morning, Judge. Need some more of those heart drops?"

The judge surveyed his pale, tired face. "No," he said. "But they're doing me a lot of good. Where's Tom?"

"I haven't seen him since last night. I think he's out on the trail with Henry Barton."

The old man nodded. "I'm afraid there's another disagreeable task before you. Can you go over to Hoskell's with me?"

Logan looked steadily at him. "Another inquest? I'll get my bag."

Sheriff Matlock awaited them, leaning guard in the doorway.

"I hate to keep botherin' you with

way this afternoon," Logan volunteered. "I'll tell him."

"And you come with him," said the judge. "I want you present also, son."

This slightly worried Logan as he rode out to the Circle Bar. What could the old jurist possibly have up his sleeve?

When they reached the judge's house they found the others already present. "Men," began the old jurist gravely, "I've asked you here tonight for a little heart-to-heart talk. Somebody within this organization has taken matters into his own hands. I refer to the action of that anonymous party last Monday night who called himself the Range Doctor. That man obviously lacks confidence in our body. My purpose is to clear up that misunderstanding. I may be mistaken, but I'm satisfied that Range Doctor sits in this room this very minute. Understand, I'm not censuring, but isn't it time the Range Doctor stepped forward and admitted his identity in the secrecy of this body?"

No one stirred except for Hawkins.

"I reckon I supplied the guns he used," he finally offered, and told about the disappearance of his two .38s.

Griggsby fastened sharp eyes on him. "How do we know you didn't take them yourself and go night ridin'?"

"I thought—" Hawkins began lamely. "I mean—I wonder if the Range Doctor didn't limp slightly."

The judge said, disappointment in his tone. "This is getting us nowhere, gentlemen. I guess it isn't necessary for us to know the identity of this man. We'll just forget the entire episode, and from now on our committee will function as a unit. That's all, men."

The Range Doctor "Wait right here!" Matlock ordered, sensing a situation with which he could not cope. "I'll call Judge Steele."

"I see." The judge nodded thoughtfully. "Matlock, go with this man to Haskell's. I'll try to find Dr. Logan and meet you there."

He had no difficulty locating the doctor. This morning Logan had arranged his affairs to be on hand for the occasion.

"Good morning, Judge. Need some more of those heart drops?"

The judge surveyed his pale, tired face. "No," he said. "But they're doing me a lot of good. Where's Tom?"

Sheriff Matlock awaited them, leaning guard in the doorway.

"I hate to keep botherin' you with dead patients, Doc," he offered in heavy humor. "Think yuh can stand it?"

"Lead on, Matlock. You're wasting time."

Logan knelt beside the dead outlaws and examined them without a tremor.

"All three shot in the head," he said briefly. "Death must have been instantaneous. I'd say they've been dead no more than 12 hours. Any questions?"

"Killed the same way you shot Bryant, wasn't they?" commented Matlock.

"Yes," Logan said.

Judge Steele spoke to the silent mountaineer. "All right, Plum," he said not unkindly. "Let's hear your story. You can sign a deposition later."

The mountaineer cleared his throat. He obliged with terse but accurate account of what had happened.

"We loaded all their belongings in the wagon with 'em. The nineteen hundred dollars is in Duncan's pants pockets."

He unearthed the nineteen hundred dollars.

"What is your opinion, Dr. Logan?" the judge asked.

"I believe Plum is telling the truth."

"So do I."

Thus, the first hurdle was taken successfully. For the next two days nothing else was talked of but the amazing man of mystery who had simply dropped out of existence while the whole range flamed with the news of his exploit.

On Friday, Judge Steele took matters in his own hands. He came to the newspaper office and asked Griggsby to call a special meeting with Hawkins, Overstreet and Barton.

"Tonight, at my house," he added. "Can you manage to send word out to Barton?"

"I've got a call to make over that way this afternoon," Logan volunteered. "I'll tell him."

"And you come with him," said the judge. "I want you present also, son."

KOREANS WRITES YANK'S WIDOW

Collingdale, Pa., Oct. 19 (AP) — Two little girls, whose father wrote the now famous 'Dear Joanne and Rosemarie' letter, have received another bit of mail they probably will cherish in the years to come. A letter of sympathy and $50 contributed by nine Koreans was presented yesterday to the widow of Private First Class John J. McCormick.

McCormick wrote to his daughters, Rosemarie, six, and Joanne, three, shortly before he was killed in action last August 10. In the letter, which reached the children September 14, he explained he was fighting so his loved ones could live in peace.

On September 30, nine Koreans

British Women's Eyes Have It

London, Oct. 19 (AP) — O. D. Rasmussen, who has been giving his women's eyes the world over to see says women of Britain's upper middle class have the most beautiful eyes in the world.

Writing in V. S. A. magazine of the Association of Optical Fracturers, O. D. Rasmussen says of women's eyes this way.

French—Their eyes have a certain hardness.

German—Too staring.

American—Too intelligent.

Russian—Not intelligent enough.

GOP ADVANCES HARMONY MOVE

Harrisburg, Oct. 19 (AP) — A new Republican harmony move shaped up today with an invitation to Jay Cooke to speak from the same platform as former Jackie John S. Fine.

Cooke lost the Republican nomination for Governor to Fine in a May 18 primary. Right that sold Pennsylvania Republicans right near the middle.

State Sen. M. H. Hoyer, GOP state chairman and an ally of the victorious Fine, led by Fine and Gov. James H. Duff, has invited Cooke to attend a so-called grand old-fashioned party at nearby Harrisburg tomorrow night.

A date General Weldon B. Heyburn, Cooke's campaign manager in the primary, said Cooke has tentatively accepted the bid if it is possible to have him speak at a large entertainment in Harrisburg.

U.S. Considers Ban On Some Building

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP) — Despite objections from the building industry, the government today considered an emergency ban on the construction of race tracks, dance halls, bowling alleys and other amusement spots.

New moving picture theaters and night clubs might also be included but officials of the National Production Authority (NPA) said the scope of the proposed order remains to be worked out. Its aim is to save materials for munitions.

The move would be a stiff blow to the already-tottering building boom. Severe limitations on private real estate credit and federal home financing were imposed Thursday, and a limitation on commercial construction credit-affecting stores and office buildings—is expected to follow.

Still another slap at credit expansion.

Keystone State Is Leader In Wildlife Conservation; Also Tops In Steel, Coal Output

Pennsylvania is famous not only for coal and steel production, for agriculture and diversified manufacturing, but also as a leader in wildlife conservation and restoration.

Within the commonwealth's borders dwell millions of wild creatures. Here in the early days of the white man food necessary for survival was derived from the flesh of wild birds and animals, and their pelts and downy feathers provided warmth and comfort.

Today, hunters and trappers do not pursue wild creatures for nourishment and warmth nearly as much as for recreation and the beneficial results accruing from relaxing enjoyment away from occupational strain. While producing, perpetuating and protecting the annual crop of game birds and animals for about one million hunters is one of the Pennsylvania Game Commission's responsibilities, it must also administer nearly 900,000 acres of State Game Lands, purchased largely by hunters' license money. Since Pennsylvania's wild birds and animals are found on farms as well as on game lands and other forested areas and since ownership of these creatures is vested in the citizens of the commonwealth, the Game Commission must manage wildlife everywhere in the state.

Active Wildlife Program

Pennsylvania has long been recognized as a leader and a guide in wildlife management. Desiring to retain this leadership, even forge ahead, game authorities have continued programs of established work and have developed new ones to meet the requirements of changing times and conditions.

Following are given some of the accomplishments and the new programs initiated within the past four years:

Additional state game lands purchased totaled 41,521.3 acres. On commission-owned and controlled lands, 6,020 acres were planted to improve food and cover conditions for wildlife; 4,155 acres were cleared for planting or were mowed; approximately 4,000,000 food or cover-producing seedlings were planted; on 19,200 acres soil conservation practices were established; 5 new dams, impounding 210 acres of water, were built and 1,200 additional acres were improved for wild waterfowl; and thousands of miles of game land roads, fire trails and boundary lines were maintained.

Promote 158 Projects

On June 1, 1946, the cooperative farm-game program consisted of 68 projects containing 2,066 farms and having a total of 164,425 acres. By June 1, 1950, this program had grown to 158 projects in which were 7,633 farms having a total of 767,729 acres.

Law enforcement and predator control programs were conducted efficiently, and the deputy protection force was greatly increased.

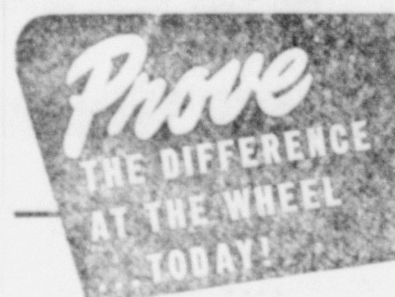

The day-old pheasant chick rearing program by sportsmen and farm-game cooperators has doubled in the past four years. The population of wild turkeys has increased and expanded over much of the state, due largely to improved facilities and greater production at the state turkey farm, also the wilding pens in which young toms are allowed to mature naturally in the safety of typical wildlife surroundings.

Two New Experiments

Much is expected from two new experiments that are now under way. In some instances, young bobwhite quail are placed in hardening pens similar to those holding wild turkeys; in others, quail eggs are placed in nests in the wild, with juncos fowl hatching them and mothering the chicks. The other departure deals with cottontail rabbit production. In eight counties, almost 100 farms having a total of over 8,000 acres have been leased as rabbit farms, whereon native rabbits will be protected to propagate naturally. Farmers will be paid $1.00 for each rabbit trapped on their properties. These native cottontails, superior to imported stock, will be released on open hunting territory.

Pennsylvania's wildlife research program has been more than trebled in the past four years. Conclusions and recommendations of research workers have materially influenced game management in the interest of improved practices.

Louis Will Meet Brion November 29

Chicago, Oct. 19 (AP) — Argentine Cesar Brion is the first road block sprangled before Farmer Heavyweight champion Joe Louis in his projected shuffle up the long train back to the top of listiana.

Ironically, the foe Joe will oppose at the Chicago stadium Nov. 29 has the one asset, youth, which apparently weighed so heavily against Louis when he was pummeled by Champion Ezzard Charles at New York Sept. 27.

Louis, however, is confident he can brush by the 26-year-old Brion, winner of 31 bouts against three defeats. Then he hopes to whip probably Lee Oma and Rock Marciano and then square things with Charles next June.

The 36-year-old, faded Brown

Modern cars are designed to protect passengers from bumps, shocks and jars. That is why the shocks, vibration and strain caused by destructive wheel conditions are rarely felt by the driver, before it is too late.

Eventually destructive wheel misalignment or unbalance shows up in uneven tire wear, loose steering, shimmy, wobbles or wander. That is after serious damage is done—tires are ruined or the car is aged beyond its years.

Frequent Wheel Checks give you Safety and Saving

Just normal driving, striking a bump, or a curb or a rut, or changing a tire, may cause destructive wheel conditions without your knowing it. The SAFE, sure, economical way is to have us check Wheel Alignment and Wheel Balance regularly. That way we can detect and correct destructive wheel conditions before much damage is done.

Get Acquainted—Drive in Today!

When you see our Scientific MANBEE Equipment for detecting and correcting destructive wheel conditions, you will quickly appreciate how we prolong the life of your tires and your car—give you extra SAFETY with increased driving comfort and satisfaction at negligible cost.
